The Rails and Money.
The Worst of Crimes.
Strange Views On Twins.
A Buried Pyramid.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

REPORTERS SAY that Gov. Roosevelt as President will bargain with other countries for tariff cuts and make reductions in our tariffs accordingly.

Many believe that the best tariff policy would make a tariff wall high enough to keep foreign goods out of the United States, compelling Americans to buy goods made by American labor, paid for with American money, instead of building up foreign industry, enabling depreciated foreign money to nullify our tariff.

THE "BUY AMERICAN" policy was expressed well long ago by Abraham Lincoln, according to J. P. Annin:

"To a question on tariffs Abraham Lincoln is said to have replied that he knew very little about the tariff but that he did know that when we bought steel rails abroad, they had the money and we had the rails, but when we bought steel rails in America this country had the rails and the money also."

IN NEW YORK has occurred the most shocking crime of this crime-ridden period. A child four months old, Frank Michael Cammarano, is found murdered in his crib, stabbed three times with a sharp blade.

The knife had been left driven through his heart deep into the mattress of the crib. The police "suppose" it to be a crime of vengeance. Criminals of this kind cannot be discouraged by any gentle methods, unfortunately.

AUGUSTE PICCARD, who has twice visited the stratosphere, going higher above the earth than any other man, arrives here to explore the stratosphere again in the cold region of Hudson Bay. Prof. Piccard has a twin brother in America, also a scientist, Jean Piccard, who devotes his learning to the phenomenon of twin births. Jean Piccard believes that left-handedness and twin births are in some way connected.

If you are left-handed it is possible that you are one of twins, the other one having failed to reach maturity.

Some savage tribes have a still stranger theory. They think that when twins appear there must have been two fathers. They kill the mother and the twins to punish them for immorality. Both twins are killed because they don't know which one had the wrong father.

NEAR THE three great pyramids a smaller pyramid has been unearthed. It was built as a burial chamber of Queen Khamet. Near the buried pyramid were found forty houses built for priests, containing living, sleeping, bath rooms and kitchens.

You read about that with pleasure, thinking how peaceful and free from worry those forty priests are now, and have been for thousands of years. Perhaps we worry needlessly, since time passes so swiftly. In a few years young people will ask, "What depression?"

GOV. BLACKWOOD, of South Carolina, will be congratulated on his decision not to permit Mrs. Beatrice Ferguson Snipes to die in the electric chair "as soon as her baby is born."

The plan was to wait until the baby was born, then put the mother in the electric chair. That proceeding would be unworthy of the Fiji Islanders, and thanks are due to Gov. Blackwood.

PROF. EINSTEIN is back in California, and today will listen to the Abbe Gorges Le Maitre, Jesuit professor of relativity at the University of Louvain, who will lecture on "The Expanding Universe" and other complicated subjects.

Dr. Einstein has changed his mind about the universe and no longer sees it as a fixed quantity, having adopted the expansion theory, according to reporters who have talked to him. He and the Abbe Le Maitre may be surprised when they get a wider view of the universe and find what it really is.

YESTERDAY GERMANY took her first step in the direction of "military equality," sending military attaches to seven foreign capitals, including Washington.

Naval attaches were sent to three capitals, Paris, London and Rome, and Europe sees great symbolic importance in this move.

The question that interests this country is:

"When will Europe decide to have its next war, or have the next war forced upon it, and will this country again ship millions of men and billions of dollars on a fool's errand?"

WASHINGTON REPORTS "the disposition" of the Democratic leaders to recognize Russia and resume diplomatic relations with that government.

This country, looking up from its depression at Russia, where no man is idle, has not recently made such a gigantic success of its own system as to justify criticizing others too severely, especially if they happen to be successful.

WHAT WE object to in others we do ourselves, when power comes. The Puritans came here seeking freedom to worship and believe as they liked. Soon they were busy killing imaginary witches.

The Irish for centuries were deprived of free speech by the British government. Now in Dublin the De Valera party will not allow the Cosgrave party to express its opinions in public. This is not done with De Valera's consent, he protests against it. It is the nature of man to use power tyrannically no matter what his nationality.

THREE VOLPE BROTHERS JAILED

Accused of Beating Man, Threatening Cremation

BULLETIN.

Louis Volpe today was charged with surety of the peace by Mrs. Vincenzia Lucarelli before Justice of the Peace Bernard Volk, in connection with death threats which he and three of his brothers are said to have made.

Mrs. Lucarelli, mother of Louis Lucarelli, who signed informations against the other brothers, said Louis had threatened to blow up her home unless she moved, because she had refused to let him store liquor there.

Three of the remaining Volpe brothers were in jail again today.

Members of what was once an all-powerful gang in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, they were kept behind the bars by the state police last midnight.

They were arrested, along with a friend, on charges based on the beating of two men in Wilmerding.

The three are Guy, Louis and Joe Volpe, all brothers of Johnny, Arthur and Jim Volpe, who were slain in the Wylie avenue massacre of last summer.

Louis Lucarelli, a Wilmerding tinsmith, told the state police:

"They dragged me into a cellar, beat me up and threatened to kill me and put my body in a furnace."

The Volpes, Lucarelli added, had wanted to take over his shop as a storage house in the booze racket.

Guy faces one charge of surety of the peace.

Their friend, Gennaro Caporoso, of Portland, Me., was taken on suspicion, finger-printed and photographed.

Joe Volpe and Caporoso were jailed at Greensburg, the state police headquarters. The other two were confined in the Wilmerding jail.

Hoover for Mortgage 'Truce'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—In a second special message to Congress in as many days, President Hoover today made a plea for "emergency action" in revision of the bankruptcy laws in order to avoid present-day wholesale forced foreclosures.

The President asked specifically for an immediate alteration of existing law to facilitate the "relief of debtors who seek the protection of the court for the purpose of readjusting their affairs with their creditors."

Opportunity would be given debtors to arrange a settlement with a majority of their creditors, this to be binding upon the minority creditors.

Present processes of forced liquidation through foreclosure and bankruptcy, Mr. Hoover said, are providing "utterly destructive of the interests of debtor and creditor alike."

If allowed to continue, he said, "misery will be suffered by thousands without substantial gain to their creditors insisting upon foreclosure in hope of collecting part of the money owed them. He said:

"Under existing law, even where majorities of the creditors desire to arrange fair and equitable readjustments with their debtors, their plans may not be consummated without prohibitive delay and expense, usually attended by the obstruction of minority creditors who oppose such settlements in the hope that the fear of ruinous liquidation will induce the immediate settlement of their claims."

SUFFERING HERE TOLD SENATE

Appalling Conditions Charged by State Welfare Worker

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Appalling conditions of starvation and physical anguish prevailing in Pennsylvania were described before the Senate Manufactures Committee today by Mrs. Helen Glenn Tyson, an official of the State Welfare Department stationed in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Tyson appeared in support of the $500,000,000 La Follette-Costigan bill for direct federal relief to the unemployed.

Disputing assertions by Reconstruction Finance Corporation officials that "no actual starvation" prevails in America, she declared that the percentage of school children suffering from malnutrition has risen steadily; and that thousands of adults have become so weakened from starvation that they are unable to do a day's work.

RELIEF MEAGER

Last month, Mrs. Tyson stated, 397,279 Pennsylvania families received relief of a pitifully meager kind. She added:

"The relief curve is rapidly approaching the unemployment curve. Without doubt, in the near future, Pennsylvania will be called upon to care for 500,000 families, or 2,000,000 persons.

"Examinations in the public schools reveal progressive malnutrition among children, increasing from 10 per cent of all pupils two years ago to 28 per cent in 1932. The relief diet unquestionably is a low starchy diet lacking the vitamins essential to child growth."

Senator La Follette (Rep.), of Wisconsin, called her attention to a statement by Fred C. Croxton, administrative assistant to the R. F. C., that the standard of relief during the depression has been "the highest ever known."

La Follette asked:

"Wouldn't you say that semi-starvation prevails?"

Mrs. Tyson replied:

"I would, indeed. Many men have offered to work only to find they were too weak to perform labor. The head of a large Pittsburgh industrial concern told us confidentially not long ago that many persons returning to work at his plant were unable to carry on."

Apologizes

SENATOR GEORGE REED

State Senator Reed, who slouched in his chair in the Senate chamber today, heard Gov. Pinchot dramatically proclaim a desire to horsewhip him. Then he apologized for his remarks about Mrs. Pinchot.

SAYS SENATE SLUR MERITS HORSEWHIP

Angry Governor Stirs Upper House Fear In Resentment

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—Moved by an anger which he took no pains to suppress, Gov. Pinchot today dramatically appeared before the Senate and expressed a desire to "properly horsewhip" Senator George Reed, of Dauphin County.

In short order he won a public apology from the Senator for the reflection upon Mrs. Pinchot during a Senate speech Monday night when Reed declared he "had heard on the streets of Harrisburg" questions as to Mrs. Pinchot's sobriety following an automobile accident two years ago.

Explaining that he could not satisfy his desire to horsewhip the Senator, "however much the Senator may deserve it," the Governor demanded that the Senate itself discipline Reed.

While he did not mention Reed by name, Gov. Pinchot branded the Senator's remarks as a "dastardly" lie and challenged him and his allies to meet him face to face on any issue, and added:

"I insist they shall cease this cowardly system of striking at me through a woman. It has gone too far."

LIBBY'S BABY 3½ POUNDS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The underweight son of Mrs. Libby Holman Reynolds, believed to be an heir to $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, is "doing nicely" in his incubator, was the word today that came from the obstetrician present at the accouchment.

Dr. Norris W. Vaux said that Mrs. Reynolds, widow of Smith Reynolds, fatally shot in his North Carolina home last summer, is very well and is not at all worried about her premature baby.

The physician said the child was expected early in February. It was born at 6:48 last night in Pennsylvania Hospital.

The baby, Dr. Vaux said, weighed three and a half pounds and will be kept in the incubator several weeks.

JAPANESE ARMY INVADES JEHOL

Ten thousand Japanese soldiers were reported marching into Jehol today from Shanhaikwan, the city in North China captured by the Japanese last week. This information was contained in Chinese dispatches which said also that a Japanese force had landed at the port of Chinwangtao and was patrolling that vicinity.

The Japanese legation at Peiping said Gen. Miyake, commanding the Japanese army at Shanhaikwan, had captured Chiumenkow, a pass through the Great Wall into Jehol. The general said he intended to keep it closed, but would not try to penetrate southward into China proper.

Frank Nanking word came that the Chinese government will reject Japan's proposal that the Shanhaikwan affair be considered as a local incident. This, the government contends, must be a part of the whole problem awaiting settlement by the League of Nations.

No License Tags, City Sweeper Under Ban

Pa Pitt fell afoul of the State Highway Patrol today, and Washington boulevard will have to await attachment of 1933 license plates to a city sweeping machine before it is cleaned.

During the inclement weather, the automatic sweeper was kept in the city stables, 210 Swope street, East Liberty. The third division of highway and sewers today decided to sweep the boulevard. The sweeper progressed until passing the state auto driver's testing lot near the Allegheny River boulevard.

Highway patrolmen stopped it, accepted the excuse that 1933 plates had not been sent from the City Controller's office but the sweeper went back via a tow line and not under its own power.

Dog Heroine, Vagrant, Decorated, Doomed

A collar, on which was engraved the fact that she had saved the lives of 12 men at the Scully Yards fire, January 5, was given today to "Tootsie," small white mongrel dog. But there was no home address on the collar.

"Tootsie" is a heroine—but a vagrant.

The badge of valor round her neck does not mean much to her. For it will not pardon her from the sentence of death which the Humane Society passes on all homeless dogs—unless claimed by some interested person.

Tootsie

For two years "Tootsie" had a home in a commissary building of the Duquesne Slag Company at the Scully yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad, whose unemployed inmates had adopted her. On January 5, her barking aroused the sleeping men, who escaped from the burning building.

Now "Tootsie" is waiting. A "broke" legonnaire can sometimes pawn his medals for a meal. Will her heroism win her a home—or death?

One man was injured and several women screamed when a barrage of stones thrown by boys showered a Greenfield street car near the Greenfield High School last night. Occupants of another car said it also was stoned as it passed the

SENATE PROBES KREUGER DEALS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Substitution of inferior collateral to back a $26,500,000 issue of Kreuger & Toll bonds sold in the United States under an agreement approved by the New York Stock Exchange was charged today at the resumption of the Senate stock committee investigation.

Questioned closely by members of the Senate Banking Committee, Donald Durant, partner of Lee Higginson & Co., bankers for the bonds, told of the substitutions of Hungarian for French bonds back of the issue.

Chairman Norbeck, in opening the long-delayed inquiry, said the committee had evidence that the agreement under which the substitutions were made was approved by the New York Stock Exchange.

Testifying in an even voice, Durant said the $1,000 Kreuger and Toll bonds were now selling for $140.

He contended that the Hungarian bonds were good, but that exchange difficulties prevented payments from being made.

The committee developed testimony that the stock exchange was not informed of the collateral substitutions until after the suicide of Ivar Kreuger, Swedish industrialist in March, 1932.

Durant said he had not questioned the integrity of Kreuger until after his suicide.

Associated with Higginson in marketing the bonds, Durant said, were the National City Company, Guaranty Company, Brown Brothers, Clark Dodge, Dillon-Reed and Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh.

London Begins Hunt For Wildcat Still

LONDON, Jan. 11. — (INS.) — Authorities began search today for a secret "bootleg" distillery, believed to be situated in the outskirts of London.

According to police, an outlaw gang using the distillery is directing an extensive illegal traffic in poor quality whisky. Officials state the bottles bear a well-known label.

HEIRESS FREES GILBERT KAHN

A divorce decree granted today, in Reno, to the wife of Gilbert Wolf Kahn, son of the banker, Otto Kahn, gave credence to a romance that blossomed in Pittsburgh between Gilbert and a dancer.

Mrs. Anne Whelan Kahn was granted her divorce by Judge Thomas F. Moran, after a brief private trial, according to an International News Service dispatch. Mrs. Kahn, who is a cigar-store heiress, charged cruelty. The couple was married in New York in 1924.

Kahn, a brother of the orchestra leader and flier, Roger Wolfe Kahn, came to Pittsburgh last September while Sara Jane was here dancing in the musical revue "Humpty Dumpty." Here for three days, he escorted Sara Jane here and there. At that time he explained his visit:

"Pleasure. Just visiting friends."

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—H. Blair-Smith, treasurer of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, died today following an operation.

SEEK EATON AID IN HALL FIGHT

County Commissioners admitted today they were negotiating for the services of Attorney Oliver K. Eaton in preparation for the legal battle to block the $1,000,000 payment for the Nicola Town Hall site.

A demurrer by the Schenley Farms Corporation from the answer of the county to the company's suit to force payment is under advisement by three Common Pleas Court judges.

The demurrer, if granted, would mean the contract of sale, made by the previous County Commissioners and upheld by the Supreme Court, would have to be carried out.

Eaton, through former connections, is familiar with the Town Hall dispute.

Chevalier 'Love Myth' Shattered in Court

By FREDERIC K. ABBOTT

International News Service.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—The carefully maintained illusion of the "perfect love" existing between Maurice Chevalier and his estranged wife, Yvonne Vallee, was rudely shattered today when their mutual divorce petition came up for a hearing in the Palais de Justice.

In statements read by their attorneys, the famous film star and his actress wife told their stories of a broken romance. Yvonne charged that Maurice virtually threw her out of his house in Hollywood, while the smiling actor alleged in reply that Yvonne's jealousy made life unbearable.

Neither was in court, Maurice having returned recently to America to resume his motion picture work there. Through attorneys today, each demanded the divorce.

Each had an attorney on hand to tell in detail the ruination that fame and fortune apparently visited upon one of the most picturesque romances of the Parisian music halls. Neither would admit responsibility for the rift.

BUILDING OWNERS DEMAND ONE-MILL COUNTY TAX CUT

PAYROLL SLASH ADVOCATED BY BAMFORD

Taxpayers' Strike to Compel Action Threatened

A 1-mill reduction in county taxes today was demanded by James W. Bamford, chairman of the taxation committee of the Building Owners and Managers Association, in a statement regarding the program of his group in the county budget sessions, beginning tomorrow.

Such action would mean cutting the rate to 7⅞ mills for 1933. Bamford says it can be accomplished by a 20 per cent wage and salary cut in the county payroll.

The alternative to tax reduction, Bamford declared, is a taxpayers' strike. He said:

"Unless the County Commissioners make a substantial cut in this budget, particularly in salaries, we will not only join in a tax strike, but we will lead one."

Bamford, whose request for a "private hearing" on the budget was curtly refused by Chairman C. C. McGovern on the ground that the budget is a public matter, said today he did not mean a closed hearing, but a time at which his group could present their program.

The Building Owners and Managers, representing large blocks of downtown property, have been active in investigating local governments with the aim of economy. According to Bamford, they have found the county has a "whole flock of over-loaded departments."

CALL EXPERTS IN KOPPERS HEARING

Testimony on Prices In Utility Deals Scheduled

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 11.—Hearing of 27 individuals—including five Pittsburghers—and 30 companies on charges that they were involved and instrumental in losses of $25,000,000 to the American Light and Traction Company through complicated financial deals of utility holding companies with interlocking directorates reopened here today after a recess since Monday's first-day session.

The complainants, Attorney Harry Helfman, of Detroit, and Stockton Cranmer, of Somerville, N. J., were expected to place on the stand witnesses to give expert testimony that prices paid for utilities bought were millions too low and that prices received for sale of utilities were far too high.

The plaintiffs were to attempt to show that deals resulting in such enormous losses were staged to enable interests of Cyrus S. Eaton, of Cleveland, and the Koppers Company of Pittsburgh, to dissolve their financial partnership.

The five Pittsburghers involved are members of the Koppers group. The Eaton interests are said to have been involved through the United Light and Power Company, utility holding firm, and its subsidiaries.

Pittsburgh defendants include John St. C. Brookes, Harold Doolittle, Charles D. Marshall, and Henry B. and William F. Rust.

Other defendants include the United Light, American Light and Traction, United Light and Railways Company and the Koppers Company.

BEER MEASURE TO BE REVISED IN SENATE

Change Voted to Make It Valid Under Constitution

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The Collier beer bill, recently passed by the House, will be rewritten by the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee so as to make the legalization of 3.2 per cent beer safe against constitutional attacks.

This decision was reached today by the subcommittee, of which Senator Blaine (Rep.), of Wisconsin, is chairman.

The bill will be redrafted so as to eliminate all penalties from the Volstead act for manufacture, sale or transportation of malt beverages, containing less than 3.2 per cent of alcohol. The new draft will not attempt to declare 3.2 beer non-intoxicating, as did the Collier bill.

BORAH ABSENT

Four members of the sub-committee agreed to this procedure. Aside from Blaine, they were Senators Hebert (Rep.), of Rhode Island; Walsh (Dem.), of Montana, and Dill (Dem.), of Washington. Senator Borah (Rep.), of Idaho, a fifth member, was not present. Blaine said:

"We will rewrite the bill in all its constitutional features. We will bring the legalization of beer within the constitution without any doubt whatever."

Senator Dill added:

"We are going to redraft the bill to eliminate any constitutional question about the legalization of beer."

NULLIFICATION CHARGED

The method was first suggested by Blaine and Dill during the beer hearings last week. They asked Attorneys for the Anti-Saloon League whether any constitutional issue would arise if Congress prohibited sale of spirituous liquors and "all malt beverages which are intoxicating," but provided only penalties for selling beer and ale of more than 3.2 per cent alcohol.

The dry attorneys protested such a course would constitute nullification of a part of the Constitution, but ventured no legal ground on which it could be attacked in court. This satisfied the wets. Blaine said the subcommittee would meet tomorrow to pass upon the new draft.

AID FILIBUSTER BANK BILL PERIL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—The ominous threat of a general filibuster by Senate progressives confronted Congress today, imperiling the few important measures scheduled for passage at the waning short session.

Under leadership of Senator Long (Dem.), of Louisiana, a dozen senators representing both parties demanded Congress enact a broad-guaged relief program without further delay. Senator Thomas (Dem.), Oklahoma, said:

"We are on the verge of a revolution in this country, yet Congress is doing nothing to provide relief."

The program of the insurgents included passage of the $500,000,000 LaFolette-Costigan Relief bill, still in committee; together with a currency expansion measure and a huge federal bond issue for public works.

Final enactment of the Glass banking reform proposals was jeopardized by the insurgent demands. The provision for statewide branch banking, storm center of the Glass bill, appeared doomed to defeat.

Christy Mathewson Feared Near Death

SHANGHAI, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Grave concern over the condition of Christy Mathewson, Jr., injured seriously last Sunday in an airplane crash that killed his bride, was expressed by physicians attending him today. The doctors said they feared his broken right arm and left leg had become infected.

Mathewson, son of the late star pitcher of the New York Giants, was compelled to remain in the hospital while funeral services were held for his wife, the former Margaret Phillips, of Philadelphia, whom he married on Christmas Eve.

Kingsford-Smith Flies to New Zealand

INVALID SAVED BY SON IN FIRE

An invalid father was carried to safety by his son and three other persons were forced to flee their home in night attire during a blaze that early today partly destroyed the home of Howard Risher, of 709 Fourteenth street, Munhall, and resulted in injury to a fireman.

Risher, ill, was carried from a second-floor bedroom to the street by his son, Donald, 21, after the latter discovered the flames when he went into the cellar. Mrs. Risher and her two daughters, Helen, 20, and Louise, 21, fled in night attire.

Struck by fire hose, Timothy Doyle, 23, Munhall volunteer fireman, was given first aid and removed to the Homestead Hospital, where he was said to be suffering severe brush burns about the head and body.

The blaze, of undetermined origin, burned through the first and second floors of the three-story brick building. It was fought by Homestead and Munhall volunteer firemen.

Letters Threaten Reynolds Child

ATLANTA, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—E. E. Conroy, of the United States Bureau of Investigation, today said he had in custody a man who admitted writing letters to Joe Cannon, wealthy textile manufacturer of Concord, N. C., threatening to "kidnap or kill" Cannon's infant granddaughter, a child of the late Smith Reynolds, or Joe Cannon, Jr., a student in a Rome (Ga.) school.

The investigator said the man gave the name of Odell C. Boyles, and that a woman taken into custody with him said she was Boyle's wife. The letters demanded ransom ranging from $10,000 to $20,000.

though Dr. Vaux will continue to attend the mother.

The incubator in which the child was placed is a variation of the general type, hospital authorities said, and is technically called a "hot-bed."

In appearance it is somewhat like a baby's crib enclosed in glass and metal, while under the springs of the bed are carbon lamps which control the temperature and maintain it at about 98 degrees.

It was learned that most babies at birth there are placed in "hot-beds" for varying lengths of time. Most are removed to regular cribs within 24 hours.

Mrs. Reynolds' mother, Mrs. Alfred Holman, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Louisa Carpenter Jenney, of Wilmington, Del., a friend, who accompanied her to the hospital yesterday, are staying with her.

POLICE SCORED FOR SOFT TIRES

Fifteen members of police scout and radio cars today stood meekly before the police trial board while Director James M. Clark asked:

"Why are you riding on soft tires?"

When no one answered, Clark issued a strict order that all police cars must have air in their tires and that the slightest damage to a machine must be immediately repaired at the city garage and explained by a detailed report. His ultimatum was:

"In the future any policeman failing to report such damage will be automatically suspended."

'Ride,' Beer Cost Cut By Capone Syndicate

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Following a meeting of Capone syndicate executives, beer sold in Chicago speakeasies for 20 cents a stein—a reduction of 20 per cent from the long-established price of a quarter.

Word was passed along that the syndicate cut the wholesale price from $55 a barrel to $45 by reducing production costs. From police records it was estimated that the old established price of $55 per barrel took 200 or more gang "rides" to maintain.

Bomb Wrecks Jail In Mine War Zone

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan 11.—(AP.)—A bomb was hurled through a barred window of the Jeiseyville village prison last night. It blew part of the roof and a part of the concrete wall out, but caused no injuries. The prison was empty. This was the twenty-first bomb thrown in the recent Christian County mine trouble.

CITY TO RETAIN ASSESSMENTS

Assessment of real estate in Pittsburgh for 1933 will not follow the path of the radical deflation in property values, Thomas C. McMahon, chief city assessor, told the weekly meeting of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board today in the Keystone Athletic Club.

Although McMahon did not make a clear-cut declaration to this effect, he pointed out that the triennial city assessment three years ago did not rise to meet the then prevailing high property values, adding:

"It does not follow that because values have fallen, our assessments will also fall. The Board of Assessors must be shown conclusively that our assessment is wrong before we will change it."

Chairman Collier, of the Ways and Means Committee, and Floor Leader Rainey declared a provision permitting advertising had been inadvertently omitted from the original bill and they urged that the Senate gives its immediate attention to the matter.

Barks of Collie 'Clue' In Baby's Stabbing

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—A dog's bark in the night was the only new clue today as the stabbing to death of a baby boy in his crib continued to baffle detectives.

Since Frank Michael Cammarano, four months, was found pinned to his mattress with a long knife through his body Monday night, detectives have questioned 50 people, without success.

Mrs. Joseph Hannigan, a neighbor of the Cammaranos, told police that Monday night, Buddy, her collie, rushed up and down the yard, barking frantically. She looked out, but could see no one.

Police believe that the dog was barking at a skulker who crept up to the Cammarano house, opened a window and stabbed the baby.

Aside from the knife, Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney said they had nothing tangible to go on. The child's father, a plumber's helper who was attending night school at the time of the murder, and his mother, Josephine, who was in an adjoining room, say they know of no one who bears them a grudge.

Daughter of Trotzky Suicide 'Over Illness'

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Sinaida Wolkow, daughter of Leon Trotzky, the exile Russion revolutionary, committed suicide last week "on account of illness," a note she left disclosed today.

The woman, whose identification was made public yesterday, was reported to have lost her passport when Soviet citizenship was withdrawn from Trotzky and his family.

The only message she left said:

"Be good to my boy. I have taken my life on account of illness."

She died of gas asphyxiation Her 6-year-old son survives. The mother had been suffering from tuberculosis a long time.

Bringing her son to school on the morning of January 5, Frau Wolkow said she would call for him late in the afternoon, then went to the apartment and turned on the gas.

Police stated there was no intention to revoke Frau Wolkow's permission to stay in Germany. There were reports that Trotzky's son, who is studying in Berlin, was threatened with expulsion.

An Istanbul, Turkey, dispatch said Trotzky was reported seriously ill Monday at his exile residence on Prinkipo Island and that his secretary had gone to Europe to bring back a foreign specialist.

SLAIN BANDMASTER'S BODY TO BE EXHUMED FOR CLUE

WIFE'S LETTER IN CASKET SOUGHT

Missive May Unravel Mystery, Police Believe

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11. — In search of a mysterious letter said to have been hidden in Edwin O. Schildhauer's casket by his widow, police today made arrangements to exhume the murdered bandmaster's body.

Several witnesses have told Police Capt. John Stege, he said, that they saw Mrs. Frances Schildhauer place the envelope beside her husband's body just before the casket was sealed. The contents of the envelope may solve the perplexing "ride" murder of Schildhauer, Stege said.

Lieut. Thomas Duffy has gone to New Holstein, Wis., to interview Schildhauer's father, presumably to obtain permission for the exhumation.

HIRED KILLERS

New information in the investigation indicates that two hired killers were engaged to murder the high school bandmaster on the night of December 10, Stege said. Their arrest is expected shortly, the police captain intimated.

Mrs. Louise Birkinshaw, mother of the beautiful widow, disclosed that her daughter left home November 1 following a quarrel with her husband. By her own admission Mrs Schildhauer spent the next 10 days living with Carl Bradberry, former deputy sheriff, whose intimacies with the widow were tolerated and encouraged by Schildhauer.

The couple had quarreled about Mrs. Schildhauer being in a delicate condition, Mrs. Birkinshaw told investigators.

ECCENTRIC LIFE

Convinced that a solution to the puzzling murder lies in the eccentric home life of the Schildhauers, police plunged deeper into the details of their philanderings as described by the widow. The widow's mother supported Mrs. Schildhauer's testimony that her husband disregarded his marriage vows and indulged in illicit love affairs in his own home, urging his wife to do the same.

Mrs. Birkinshaw said Schildhauer had told her that Miss Charlotte Holland, accused by the widow of having an affair with the bandmaster, had undressed in their apartment. She also said that Schildhauer had been too friendly with a woman roomer in the house and that she had asked the woman to leave following the episode.

EX-DRY FACING TRIAL FOR RUM

Two men, one a former prohibition agent, were held for court on charges of violating the Snyder act and receiving stolen goods today as a result of a raid on a Mifflin Township farm, where county detectives said they found a 200-gallon still and 25 vats of mash.

Those held were booked as W. M. Murhamer, of Arnold, Pa., a former prohibition agent, and Ralph Amatizzo, who lives on the farm. They were released under $2,000 bond each after arraignment before Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan. William Ludwig, of Boston, Pa., also arrested in the raid yesterday, was discharged.

The charges of receiving stolen goods resulted from discovery of 18 sacks of corn sugar which detectives said was part of the loot taken from a railroad freight car December 28.

FUGITIVE WAITS ACTION ON PLEA

DENVER, Col., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Keeping a promise made in his behalf, Harry Stanley, Cleveland music publisher, known to Denver police as Glenn Smeeman, escaped convict, gave himself up to Roy Best, warden of the state penitential, last night.

Stanley, with G. A. Bronson, his associate in business, held a brief conference with Best. Stanley was not taken in custody, but was allowed to remain in the home of friends, where the conference took place.

His case was expected to be laid today before Gov. Edwin C. Johnson, from whom Stanley will seek a complete pardon.

Since escaping from prison, Stanley has prospered, rising to a partnership in the music publishing house in Cleveland. His identity as a former convict was recently revealed through a woman he declared had tried to blackmail him.

Halo Around Moon Caused by Clouds

Because the moon was bedecked with a halo of unusual brilliance last night, scores of inquiries came from persons who sought to learn the cause. Weather Forecaster W. S. Only Traffic Officers Issuing New Forms

With the dispensing of the "non-fixable" traffic tags being handled exclusively by members of the Traffic Division, Director James M. Clark, of the Department of Public Safety, ascribed a big decrease in the number of tags issued as due to a more cautious public.

A Sun-Telegraph reporter, however, checking up present traffic violations, found many cars parked illegally without tags in the downtown district.

Although 100,000 new tags are available in the Controller's office, police officials said that only the patrolmen in the Traffic Division are tagging cars.

In the first week of operation under the new tags, 800 violations were reported. This compares with 500 a day under the old system. Director Clark expressed himself as pleased, saying:

"The new tags have accomplished wonderful results. The boys know the tags can't be fixed, so they are more cautious about where they park, and are not violating the law as they did before the new tags arrived."

He was brought here from Uniontown late yesterday.

As he started for prison, he told Sheriff Harry C. Hackney:

"I'm going to try and be a real man."

FOG IMPEDING SLAYER HUNT

LONDON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—A ghostly fog-shrouded dawn found Scotland Yard's host of police relentlessly pursuing Samuel Furnace today in the most minute search London and the surrounding territory ever have undergone in criminal annals.

He is sought as the slayer of his friend, Walter Spatchett, whose body was burned in such a manner that murder at first was unsuspected and the victim was identified as Furnace himself.

Throughout the huge London zone which contains a larger population than any other equal area in the world officers in plainclothes conducted an almost microscopic examination.

Police disguised in the nondescript apparel of down-and-outers mingled with denizens of the underworld, listening for a word which might guide them to their quarry.

U. S. NUNS PRAY IN GRATITUDE FOR HONOR

Miracle Cure Cited By Pontiff for Beatification

Universal Service.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 11.—A group of devout nuns of the Good Shepherd of Angers, dropped silently to their knees and, with hands clasped, whispered a prayer today when they were notified that Pope Pius XI had personally approved the miracle for beatification of Venerable Mother Mary Pelletier, founder of the order here.

Prime reason given for conferring the honor was a special prayer service held at Good Shepherd Convent of Memphis in 1913, which is said to have resulted in the miraculous cure of Consecrate Mary Magdalen.

HAPPY AT NEWS

Sitting in the reception room at the convent today with the mother superior and a reporter, Mary Magdalen overflowed with joy when the report was read to her. She cried:

"I prayed to the Lord that I might live to see the mother founder beatified.

"I was ailing for almost 10 years, but I managed to get around all right until August, 1913. In addition to the continuous ache in my side I had slipped to the floor and broken my arm. The arm was set, but my side hurt more and more.

"The doctor took me to the hospital. There he operated for gallstones and found a malignant, cancerous growth. I was returned to the convent. Sisters were told to let me do as I pleased, that I would soon die."

TELLS OF NOVENA

Here she told of the Novena, the nine days' prayer that she said resulted in her cure. She said:

"While I was lying in bed with with my arm stiff and my body covered with bandages, the Sister Superior came to me and asked if I would join them in prayers to Mother Founder Mary Pelletier. I agreed. Late in the afternoon of the ninth day, still feeling that death was upon me lying still in bed, I was conscious suddenly of a new feeling of strength flowing through me. I arose from bed.

"A small girl in an adjoining bed jumped through the window at the sight."

Flexing her arm, walking briskly about, she showed the amazed sisters she was entirely well, she said. Next day she returned to her tasks in the convent.

Students at Pitt, 'Profs' Too, Mourn Burlesque's End

Not the good old days before Pitt went West, but the good old days before the town's only burlesque theater went south, so to speak.

At least that's how the student newspaper, the Pitt News, regards the new policy of vaudeville and movies at the old Academy Theater. Mourns the News:

". . . With the memories of the old so fresh in our minds, we cannot hear of the new. Today we mourn that which is gone . . . We shall feel keenly the passing . . ."

Pearls Still Missing

MISS MADELAINE ALEXANDER . . . . . THE REWARD: $5,000

Miss Alexander, socially prominent daughter of the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, whose missing $50,000 pearl necklace, whereabouts unknown, landed a Ross Township man in jail in detectives' investigation of an attempt to extort $15,000 from an insurance company adjuster with a promise to return the pearls to their owner.

HOSPITAL AIDE DENIES KILLING

Defense witnesses were testifying today in the murder case against Edward Hennigen, attendant at St. Francis Hospital, charged with the death of David M. Linton, 53, of Bethel road, Bethel Township, who died from injuries alleged to have been inflicted by Hennigen while Linton was a patient in the psychopathic ward of the hospital September 4.

Hennigen denied knowing anything about how Linton was hurt, and defense witnesses said he could have injured himself. He had been strapped in leg irons after becoming violent the night he was hurt, it was testified.

The case is on trial before Visiting Judge C. M. Culver, of Bradford County, with Assistant District Attorney John F. Haggerty prosecuting and Attorney Edward G. Coll defending Hennigen. Sisters and nurses from the hospital comprised a majority of the witnesses.

GAS EXPLOSION BURNS MAN

An explosion in a rear room of a second hand furniture store at 3428 Butler street burned Patrick Gallagher, 54, of 7111 Kelly street, on the face and arms and caused damage estimated at $500 today. Fire Battalion Chief J. B. Callaghan said the blast apparently was caused by gas after a coffee pot boiled over and extinguished the flame from a store.

Gallagher was taken to West Penn Hospital, where it was said his condition was not serious. The store had been vacant, but a small amount of furniture was moved in recently. The blast damaged the ceiling and smashed windows in the place and in the shoe shop of N. Rotondo, next door.

Actress' Furniture To Pay for Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—A sheriff's sale of the furnishings of the former home of Pauline Stark, film actress, and her former husband, Jack White, film producer, will be held today, the proceeds to be applied on a $19,814 judgment against them.

The judgment was obtained by Arthur William Green, an attorney for Miss Stark, in lieu of payment of a promissory note given Green by White a year ago as part of a divorce settlement.

SUSPECT FREED IN ALEXANDER GEM PLOT

Found With Decoy Set After Offer to Return Jewels for $15,000

Caught in a trap laid for extortionists who sought to get $15,000 from an insurance adjuster by promising to return a $50,000 pearl necklace lost by the socially prominent Madelaine Alexander, of Sewickley Heights, a Ross Township man was released by county detectives today after he clung to his assertion he had no connection with the plot.

The man, who said he was Thomas Purcell, 34, was freed after questioning last night and this morning. Detective Chief George W. Murren said the jail physician reported the man was in ill health and imprisonment would aggravate his condition. Murrin said he was not entirely satisfied with the man's story and would investigate further.

Miss Alexander, daughter of Dr. Maitland Alexander, pastor emeritus of the First Presbyterian Church, lost the necklace two months ago in Ambridge or Sewickley.

ARRESTED AT BRIDGE

Purcell was arrested late yesterday under the East Bellevue Bridge as he examined a can in which County Detectives Frank Ritz, John Moses and Laurence Kline had placed a decoy package.

Purcell said he was looking for parts for a home-made radio when he picked up the can.

Demand of the huge sum for the return of the necklace was mailed to G. F. Ferrier, insurance adjuster, of the Standard Life Building. Ferrier is advertising the $5,000 reward for the necklace.

CASH DEMANDED

The letter directed that the $15,000 in $5, $10 and $20 denominations be placed in the container and left under the span before 7 o'clock Tuesday night. It read in part:

"If the directions are followed you can recover the necklace in perfect condition by calling for it as a package at the room clerk's desk at the Mayfair Hotel. We will put your name on the package and you must call for it 10.30 a. m. Wednesday, January 11.

"This may seem to be an unfair transaction, but we know how much you want the pearls and this is the only method and way we can deal. Remember police and detectives, etc., will prove fatal to the recoverer. The spot under the bridge will be guarded. This is your only chance, and if the $15,000 is not left according to instructions, the pearls will be sold for $9,000. We will give you a square deal."

FATHER COX ILL IN HOSPITAL

As exclusively announced in the Sun-Telegraph last week, Father Cox, of Old St. Patricks, is ill. It is not known at this time how serious is his illness, but he has been a patient at Mercy Hospital since yesterday morning under the care of Dr. Gilbert B. Meyers. It will not be known until tomorrow what the diagnosis will tell, but in the meantime absolute quiet has been ordered for the "Father of the Jobless"—no 'phone calls, no personal calls and no letters.

Father Cox has been deluged with letters and telephone calls commending his "jobocracy" idea, which carries the slogan "A job for every man and a man for every job."

Father Cox is enthusiastic about the "Buy American" movement launched by the Hearst newspapers.

In the meantime the Sun-Telegraph-Father Cox subscription drive is meeting with splendid results. Every subscription that comes in on the blank on this page brings to his unemployment relief fund a liberal cash commission.

PUPILS SHOELESS

Thousands of children in Pennsylvania are missing school for lack of shoes, she asserted. She added:

"The state relief board is unable to grant funds for shelter and unpaid rent runs into the millions. The condition of overcrowding is indescribable. We have hardly touched the problem of transient families.

"Many communities cannot feed the horde of wanderers. A growing number of young boys, tired and hungry and broken in spirit, presents the most tragic problem.

"Hospitals are burdened almost to the breaking point. State nurses report an accumulation of uncorrected physical defects in children. Medical care is sadly lacking. Many doctors cannot buy gasoline to make calls on charity patients."

Franciscan Order To Elect Officers

BOROUGHS JOIN 'BUY AMERICAN' CRUSADE

Braddock, Tarentum, Edgewood and Glassport Councils and the Mt. Lebanon Township Commissioners today were in the "Buy American" procession, urging their constituents to buy American-made goods in an effort to reopen closed factories and battle unemployment. Nine boroughs in all have indorsed the movement.

The action was taken by the various community governments as the Department of Commerce reported extended foreign shipping of foreign-made goods to the United States markets.

CANADA SETS EXAMPLE

One of the records made by Canada was its increase in British coal, reaching a record high during 1932 for importations from Britain. Formerly, Canada used much bituminous and anthracite mined in the United States, much of it from this tri-state area. The increase is attributed to the "Buy British" plan and the Ottawa trade council in which British dominions pledged themselves to import and trade with each other, rather than outside nations.

The impetus given by the borough councils and township commissioners adds to that of other similar boroughs that have joined the "buy American" movement.

Frank Cooke, Mt. Lebanon Township manager and secretary, presented a "Buy American" resolution to the commissioners, with Chairman L. C. Clark presiding. It was passed unanimously.

Braddock Council, with President M. J. Verosky presiding, passed the resolution presented by Councilman Jacob Mendelblatt. Tarentum Council, with President A. B. Davidson presiding, announced its favor of the plan.

GLASSPORT ACTION

Glassport, in its motion, also passed unanimously, urged its residents to buy American-made goods, and as well suggested that the borough buy goods made in Allegheny County. Frank Tacik presented the resolution, with George F. Pforsich presiding.

T. Roy Allen presented a resolution to the Edgewood Council with President Frank C. Demmler presiding.

"Buy American" is the official policy of the United States Senate's Appropriations Committee. It approved an amendment requiring the Treasury and Postoffice Departments to buy American-made goods.

Vets Adopt Slogan Of 'Buy American'

"Buy American" will be the slogan of the annual convention of the Department of Pennsylvania, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, opening January 20 at the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Order of the Purple Heart medals for wounds received in France will be presented to more than 50 members. Convention plans are being directed by Junior Vice Commander Curtis Haube, assisted by the Greater Pittsburgh Chapter No. 8.

'Buy American' Plan Backed in Bellevue

The Bellevue Board of Trade today had added its indorsement to the "Buy American" program. A resolution was adopted, urging that the business and civic interests of the town adopt the slogan as an aid in returning prosperity.

Frederick L. Wilson, of the South Hills High School, made an address on the school system of Pittsburgh and praised the Edmonds act.

Sharon Star Gets Cadet Nomination

John McCarthy, high school football and track athlete at Sharon, has been nominated for West Point by United States Senator James J. Davis. McCarthy graduated last year, and in addition to his performances on the athletic field was an honor student.

Mr. McCarthy

McCarthy set the military academy as his goal when Harry Wilson, now a lieutenant in the United States Army Air Corps, was starring in football there. In honoring a Sharon boy, Senator Davis has picked the community where he himself worked as a youth.

Window Shattered And Store Looted

A brick was hurled through the window of a grocery at 3001 Preble avenue, directly opposite the Woods Run Police Station, closed for the sake of economy two days ago.

Harry Glass, owner of the store, said canned goods valued at $3 had been taken.

Jail Cheaper

CHARLES BARNHOUSE TODAY

SERVES 10 DAYS TO SAVE CASH

Charles Barnhouse, 21, bus driver, walked from the Allegheny County Jail at daybreak today with a contented smile on his face. He commented:

"It was either a jail sentence or pay. In these times I'm not worth much outside so I elected to serve the jail sentence."

Barnhouse, who lives in Mt. Lebanon, had been arrested 10 days ago for using 1932 automobile license plates issued for another car and driving without an owner's card or driver's license, according to Justice of the Peace E. B. Bishop, of Mt. Lebanon. Bishop said Barnhouse was fined $25 or 10 days in jail, and no costs were assessed.

Mrs. Sally Barnhouse was at the jail door to greet her husband when he was liberated. They did not tarry long in affectionate greeting, but sped away, homeward bound.

DISCOUNTS RED STEEL MENACE

Mukerji will discuss the part America is playing in creation of Soviet mills at the Foreign Policy Association meeting in the Hotel Schenley, Friday evening.

Castle Shannon Fights Extra Fare

SHORE TO FINISH COUNTY JOB

Although the dismissal of William E. Shore, county engineer, has been held up, Shore will be relieved of his duties at the end of the week, County Commissioner C. C. McGovern said today. The Commissioners agreed Saturday to dismiss Shore, who in addition to his $250 county salary, draws a $125 pension from the city.

After the board moved to dismiss Shore, McGovern notified William T. Rees, chief clerk, to delay the notification, because Shore was drawing specifications for the remodeling of the old City Hall in Smithfield street. Dropping him at once would necessitate employing an architect, McGovern said.

The Commissioner made it plain he was attempting to save the county money and not defending Shore, who, he declared, had not "played fair" with the county. He said Shore had failed to comply with instructions to stop drawing his pension.

PENNSY PUSHES MONTOUR FIGHT

CLEVELAND, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroads filed another brief in Federal Court today in their injunction suit to stop construction of the Montour Railroad Company's 13-mile line from Smith's Ferry, Pa., to Negley, O.

The briefs filed today were in answer to those submitted by the Pittsburgh Coal Company, the Montour Railroad and others 10 days ago in which they asked to be dismissed as defendants in the legal battle brought by the Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie against construction of the little railroad.

The plaintiff railroads asserted they had invested millions of dollars in the vicinity of the Youngstown steel district, which the Montour plans to tap with its spur leading to the Ohio River, and that their lines were adequate for the traffic in that district.

Meanwhile construction of the Montour has been carried on day and night in a race against time pending outcome of the litigation.

DROUGHT FACES MILLVALE

Millvale Borough officials today were urging residents of the borough to fill up their bathtubs, washtubs, and all available vessels in preparation for a 12-hour water "famine" tomorrow when the government begins a survey of conditions that will result from construction of a new dam in the Allegheny River.

The change in the river dams will result in lowering of the river stage seven feet at Millvale. The intake for the borough's reservoir is in the river bed, and while dredge boats are engaged in the survey, it will be necessary to shut off the water supply, Burgess E. B. W. Pfischner said. The water plant will close at 7 a. m.

Burgess Pfischner said the only supply available during the operations will be that conserved by individuals.

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Dr. Daniel E. Berney, 46, World War hero and noted specialist on disease of children, died today at his home here following a stroke of paralysis he suffered Monday night. He founded the St. Joseph Hospital for Children here.

Dr. Berney was severely wounded during the great war and was the first American doctor serving with British units to be decorated with the British cross for bravery under fire. Following the war he married Miss Rosa Quittler, of Brussels, Belgium.

Indicted in Deaths Of Her 3 Children

CHARLESTON, Ill., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Mrs. Inez S. Carrell, 29-year-old Chicago widow, stood indicted today on charges of murder in connection with deaths of her three children in a Mattoon (Ill.) hotel last October 23.

The children, Mary Ellen, 5; Robert, 7, and June, 10, were found drowned in a bathtub. Mrs. Carrell lay on the floor in a stupor.

"MOIST THROAT" FOUND SECRET OF COUGH RELIEF

Your throat and bronchial tubes are lined with millions of pores like tiny bottles, continually supplying moisture to the delicate tissues . . . until you "catch cold."

Then these "bottles" get plugged up, phlegm accumulates, affording dangerous germs a breeding place. Your throat feels hot and dry. Tickling, irritation and coughing set in.

Your cough will be cured only when the flow of the natural fluid is increased, loosening the phlegm so that it can be expelled. Many cough "remedies" contain numbing drugs which merely deaden the nerves . . . but don't get at the root of the trouble.

PERTUSSIN, a scientific remedy, which doctors have prescribed for many years, is the extract of a famous herb which opens the tiny glands, stimulates the flow of the throat's natural moisture and brings quick relief. It helps nature heal that cough from the inside out.

HIGHWAY PROBE PROPOSED IN SENATE

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—The State Senate today considered a new weapon for attack on the administration of Gov. Pinchot, whose regime has been noteworthy for its battles with the Republican state organization.

A final vote was probable Monday on the resolution of Representative Frederick Peters, Montgomery County, asking for an investigation of the State Highway Department.

POLITICS INVOLVED

While the prospective investigation ostensibly is designed to deal with various types of road construction, legislators sponsoring it have in the back of their heads allegations that the Pinchot administration has employed highway building to its political advantage.

Road construction in the congressional district of Louis T. McFadden, who was opposed in the last primary by Mrs. Pinchot, will be particularly scrutinized by the committee if it is organized, it is said.

Before adjournment of both branches for the week today, the Senate advanced five bills for final vote Monday night. One would make the state, rather than counties, responsible for road damages incurred in the relocation of state highways, and another would compel the Department of Highways to construct and maintain roads in boroughs and towns which are a part of the road system.

NEW ROAD PROGRAM

While the Senate echoed with attacks made last night on this phase of his policies, the Governor renewed his recommendations for increased tax collection powers for the Revenue Department.

Senator Richard W. Williamson, Huntingdon, introduced a bill prodiving for a different allocation of highway funds from that proposed by the Governor.

Williamson recommended allocation on a pro-rata basis of $30,000,000 from the motor fund for use in constructing and maintaining city and borough streets and township roads.

One-third of this sum would go to Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton; $5,000,000 to third-class cities; $5,000,000 to Bloomsburg, boroughs and first-class townships, and $10,000,000 to second-class townships.

APOLOGY FORCED BY PINCHOT

"I bid you good day."

LEADERS CONFER

As soon as the Governor departed the Senate declared a recess, while Republican leaders gathered in knots to determine what to do. Senator John J. McClure, organization chief, went to the rostrum to confer with Shannon. They were joined by Senator Harry B. Scott, of Centre; Senator Thad Krause, of Philadelphia, and Senator James J. Coyne, of Allegheny.

Reed was approached by another organization leader who had been conferring with members in their seats, and was escorted into a side room for a conference.

It was plainly evident that the Senators generally were greatly disturbed by the episode, and disapproved Reed's remarks, which had been expunged from the record as soon as made. Organization leaders, recognizing that Reed, though they had been unable to control his utterances, was identified with their group, were worried.

Political repercussions of the incident were feared just when the organization believed it had lecislative conditions in a well-controlled state.

In a short time after the Governor's departure Reed, after consulting with the Senate leaders, made his apology. He said he was sorry for the reflection upon Mrs. Pinchot. He denied that any one active in the Republican organization had inspired his inferences, apparently noting the Governor's allegation yesterday that Reed's speech was part of an organization attack on his administration.

In his apology, Reed said:

"As far as my remarks relating to Mrs. Pinchot in my address on Monday night are concerned, I regret they were made and tender the Senate my apologies. I further state that my remarks were made upon my individual responsibility and without consulting any member of the Senate or any one active in the Republican party."

Reed's statement was applauded. Senator Clarence Buckman, Pinchot leader, leading a burst of handclapping.

The scene was one of moving drama as the Governor, unheralded, walked into the Senate and asked to be heard.

The request that the Senate discipline one of its members was the first action of this kind within the memory of the oldest members of the Senate.

Veterans said there had been no similar occurrence in 25 years.

Members sat expectant as Gov. Pinchot stood beside Lieut. Gov. Shannon, remembering that yesterday the Governor in a newspaper statement had resented "the lying insult" to Mrs. Pinchot.

In his address, the Governor declared:

"An attack recently has been made upon the floor of this chamber so false, so insulting, so inspired by malice, and so entirely beyond the bounds of decency, that the honor of the Senate demands action more direct and effective than the mere expunging of the lie from its records.

"Yesterday I was too angry to trust myself before you. But I can no longer postpone this demand for justice.

READY TO MEET FOES

"This is not the first time that a like dastardly attack has been made by men high in the Republican organization. During my first term an organization senator committed a similar slander on this floor. At the beginning of this term I was warned in advance of the abominable whispering campaign which was being planned and which has, in fact, been carried on.

"I am here to say that I am entirely ready to meet my enemies at any time and on any issue, but I insist they shall cease this cowardly system of striking at me through a woman. It has gone too far.

"The charge, it is well known, is unqualifiedly false. Because it is false, I demand that you require the slanderer to produce his proof or make public reparation.

"The laws of the state prevent me from taking into my own hands the punishment of the offender. I cannot properly horsewhip a Senator, however much I may desire to, and however much the Senator may deserve it.

"But the Senate has disciplinary authority and power. The course which is demanded of you by the good name of the commonwealth should be clear before you. I bid you good day."

Proposes Tighter Dairy Farm Rule

HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Representative A. L. Sheffer, Mifflin, today introduced a bill requiring all milk dealers to keep an accurate record of all dairy farms from which milk is obtained.

Pinchot Refuses Cash to Aid Reds Return Here

HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Individuals and delegations that visit Gov. Gifford Pinchot without return carfare are going to be disappointed if they depend upon a "gubernatorial touch."

Today he was requested to advance $10 to return a delegation of Communist miners to Western Pennsylvania. The delegation was headed by F. Borick, Pittsburgh, secretary of the National Mine Workers' Union. Borick complained of working conditions in the bituminous field.

Then he switched to a request for $10 to get his delegation back to Pittsburgh. The Governor declined to advance the money.

TWO MANSFIELD JOBS EXPECTED TO BE SAFE

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—Attorney General William A. Schnader within a few days will act upon the pleas of E. E. McMonigle, Pittsburgh attorney, that he institute quo warranto proceedings to have County Commissioner William D. Mansfield ousted from his post as State Senator.

Mansfield's reply to McMonigle's request was filed with the Attorney General yesterday afternoon by O. K. Eaton, a Pittsburgh attorney.

No intimation of future action was given by the Attorney General, who today was studying the questions raised, but about the Senate there was a belief that the attack on Mansfield's right to hold the two public posts would not succeed. Some senators expressed the opinion that in reality the matter was one for their determination, and added that they would no nothing to shake the Allegheny Countian's tenure of office.

In his reply today, Eaton, for Mansfield, set forth that no evidence had been introduced that Mansfield has been unable to perform the duties of either office. Further, it was recited that the people of Allegheny County knew he was a Senator when they elected him County Commissioner, that there is no incompatibility in the offices and that there is no basis for the writ asked by McMonigle.

Harrisburg is disposed to view the issue as having lost its punch. It is observed in political circles that sufficient confusion was aroused to base the Republican organization action in ejecting Mansfield from membership on the Senate Education Committee, of which he had been chairman for several years, and there are suspicions that this was the real purpose of the original action.

SALUS EXPECTS TO QUIT PROBE OF UTILITIES

HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—State Senator Samuel W. Salus, Republican organization ward leader in Philadelphia, today said in Philadelphia he expects to resign Monday night from the Senate committee investigating public utilities.

Members of the committee meanwhile had given the absence of the lone Democratic member as the excuse for their failure to reorganize this week and introduce a resolution providing an appropriation for continuing the inquiry. Warren R. Roberts, of Bethlehem, has been absent from the Senate sessions.

Senator Salus, who denied reports he felt slighted by failure to get any important committee chairmanship, said:

"I have done all the work for this committee that I intend to do; let some one else handle the rest of it."

SERIES OF INDECISIONS

Behind the failure of the committee to proceed with its work, either preparing to meet the various attacks raised against its jurisdiction in the courts or to finally report to the Senate that the legislative recommendations of last week will be the sum total of its labors, lies a story of indecision.

The committee appears to be waiting until the Republican state organization determines the attitude it will adopt toward the utilities in this session.

Some regular leaders have been lulled into a sense of security by Gov. Pinchot's failure in his biennial message to deliver an anti-utility blast, as has been his habit. They paid no heed to the interpolation that at some future date there would be comment on this subject. It is authoritatively known that the Governor does intend within the next few weeks to address the Legislature, with utilities the sole subject. He is waiting to see if the membership does not ensnarl itself in legislative tangles, as it has in the past.

QUASH FAVORED

There are some senators who would like to have the whole idea of utility investigation dropped right now, with no authority given Attorney O. K. Eaton, of Pittsburgh, counsel for the committee, to continue his efforts to bring to the witness stand Former Commissioner James S. Benn, and Commissioners S. Ray Shelby, P. S. Stahlnecker, Clyde L. King and George W. Woodruff.

URGES WEST VA. LUXURY TAX

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 11.—(INS.)—A luxury tax and the reassessment of all property in the state by a bi-partisan three-man tax commission was urged by Gov. William G. Conley today in his annual message to the West Virginia State Legislature.

Citing the state's deficit, which he estimated would be $3,800,100 by June 30, Gov. Conley said the luxury tax—aimed specifically at cigarets and other tobaccos—was one of the most practicable plans to balance the ledgers.

"I'm working and Smoking overtime—hence a Milder Cigarette

"WHEN I work hard, I usually smoke more; and when I smoke more, I usually work harder—and that's why I want a cigarette that's milder."

We use in Chesterfield Cigarettes mild, ripe Domestic and Turkish tobaccos which have been aged and re-aged.

OPERA STAR Martha Attwood Re-enacts Tragedy IN RADIO DRAMA

Talk Tonight By Afghan Author

Martha Attwood, celebrated singer who has had a brilliant career with the Metropolitan Opera Company, is featured in the leading role of a dramatization of an operatic tragedy from real life as the American Weekly presentation offered on WCAE at 6 o'clock tonight.

The drama, one of a series of varied programs being broadcast by a large group of radio stations throughout the country under the sponsorship of 17 Hearst newspapers, including the Sun-Telegraph, depicts the fatal shooting of Mme. Gertrude Bindernagel, Germany's most popular grand opera prima donna, by her quarrelsome banker-husband as she left the stage of Berlin's Municipal Opera House after singing the role of Brunnhilde.

Miss Attwood

Achmed Abdullah, noted Afghan novelist and short story writer, makes a brief microphone appearance in conjunction with the dramatization of his story, "The Dancer of Samarkand," during the Five Star Theater on KDKA at 7:30. The play, the scene of which is the borderland between the East and West on the steppes of Russia, concerns the romance of a young prince, descendant from great Tartar rulers, and a beautiful gypsy dancer.

Program Pointers

Episodes from the life of Mary, Queen of Scots, including her betrothal at the age of 5 to the 1-year-old French prince, who later became her husband, Francis the Second, and her tragic marriage to her cousin, Henry, Lord Darnley, are dramatized during the "Sheer Romance" presentation over an NBC-WJZ network from the studios of KDKA at 6:30 tonight. Irene Cowan, Ruth Aston, Alma Lind, Robert Gill and Claude Morris portray the leading roles. Frederick G. Rodgers acts as narrator.

Mr. Morris

The first of a series of Wednesday evening programs by students of the Duquesne University School of Music, Saint-Saens' rarely-heard "Carnival of the Animals," is listed on WWSW at 9.

Following a week's absence, during which they were replaced by entrants in an amateur night program, the Corn Cob Pipe Club's regular entertainers—the Tobacco Boys, the Fiddlers, the Old Timers, Harmonica George and Sawdust and Moonshine—return to the air on WCAE at 10.

Pitt Stars on Air With Seals

Three Pitt football stars and an assistant coach come to a WCAE microphone to tell the story of their 35-0 setback at the hands of Southern California at Pasadena on New Years Day as a special Trained Seals treat tonight at 7 o'clock. The speakers are Warren Heller, Joe Skladany and Paul Cuba. Bill Kern, former Pitt star and now assistant coach, also is on the program. Harry Keck is master of ceremonies.

News flashes by Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, are broadcast by WCAE and WJAS daily at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:15 p. m. and 6:30 p. m.

Kate Smith, Al Jolson In Feud

Kate Smith, back in New York from Hollywood, and Al Jolson are feuding! . . . Kate vows never to sing "Pickaninny Heaven," which she considers perfect and which features her recently-completed film—because Jolson beat her to it and sang the tune on the air several weeks ago. Kate says Al failed to give her a mention and picked up some of her continuity to build up the number . . . Until now, the two artists had been the best of friends.

Miss Smith

Jack Pearl, who holds that a radio star can wear out a welcome, plans to leave the air in May. He'll make a feature film and return to the microphone at the completion of the picture—probably next fall.

Teddy Bergman, suffering with a temperature of 102 the other night, was called upon to portray in quick succession during a "Mysteries in Paris" broadcast the parts of an Englishman, a German and a dog.

Ted Weems bit off more than he could chew during a recent program. He was supposed to mumble a few lines with his mouth full, but bit off so much of a large apple that he couldn't say a word when his cue came. Engineers waved frantically and with a gulp Ted swallowed his apple and choked out his lines—after setting the official timing back 12½ seconds.

Harry Reser, "Eskimo" chief and master of the banjo, started his career as a pianist. During his first two seasons, he says, there was a banjo on top of his piano, but he didn't think enough of it to "pick it up and dust it off."

The first episode of "The Scarab Murder Mystery," sequel to the Juggernaut case, postponed Monday when Ed Harvey became ill, is listed for next Monday night.

Bud Cooper, KQV program director, pops up with a new luncheon music theme song—"A Cup of Coffee and You," promising to put the sandwich back in after March 4.

Globe-Trotting

With the Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, Ladies and Gentlemen:

More signs of spring—dandelion blossoms at Mather, Pa., in James Kalasky's front yard.

W. R. McMillen saved the day and saved the cat at Kennywood. George Evans' dog chased Tommy up a pole. Coaxing, food, promises — and still kitty remained aloft. When night had come and passed, and it looked like a new pole sitting record might be in the making, lineman McMillen was called. He effected the aerial rescue by means of climbing irons and a basket.

Happy birthday to the lone survivor of one of the oldest pioneer families in Washington County, Mrs. Sadie Hall Smith, of Canonsburg, 87 years old.

Apollo radio fans—Sent your letter to the Federal Radio Commission.

Extra! Extra! Dixie goes in for home dramatics. A southern chicken and waffle dinner now becomes just a bird on a revolving stage. Mrs. A. I. Friedman, of our city, adds to the remarks from Waycross, Ga., concerning the revolving dinner table idea. The southern "cunnels" have cured the boarding house reach by having their table delicacies merry-go-rounded to their places.

When lint clings to your blue suit and makes you think of nasty words while trying to remove it, don't break that New Years resolution. Try an old piece of washed silk. A correspondent says it will do the trick.

Andrew L. Stash, of Wilkinsburg, notices that some Pennsylvania licenses show Penna. 1933 while others reverse the legend, 1933 Penna. It was a mistake in Harrisburg, but noticed too late to do anything about it.

MT. LEBANON WIFE SUES FOR ALIMONY

Mrs. Anna C. Moore, 351 Morrison drive, Mt. Lebanon, who has a divorce action pending against Clyde J. Moore, has filed a court petition for alimony and counsel fees, pending the outcome of the divorce suit.

She said her husband, employed by a transfer company at $500 a month, last March agreed to pay her $50 a month, but is now $500 in arrears. Her suit charges cruel and barbarous treatment. She said they own the property in Morrison drive and a 100-acre dairy farm at Muddy Creek, Butler County.

TELLS OF QUARRELS

Mrs. Anna C. Goedert, 511 Sweetbriar street, Mt. Washington, has asked Judge Elder W. Marshall for a divorce from Charles J. Goedert. They eloped to Cumberland, Md., in 1919, when she was 18 and he 23. Quarrels, she testified, were climaxed March 28, 1928, when Goedert moved out the furniture. She said she had not seen or heard from him since and charges desertion.

Mrs. Clara Echement, 227 Marland street, asked a divorce from Gerard Echement on grounds of desertion.

EDGEWOOD WIFE SUES

Mrs. Pattinell Hall, 329 Locust street, Edgewood, also charged desertion in seeking a divorce from Charles S. Hall, School street, Sewickley.

Other divorce suits were filed by Florence S. King against G. C. King, Joseph C. Miller against Martha Miller, John R. Roberts against Estella Roberts, and by Frances A. Nixon against Theodore R. Nixon.

Divorces were granted to Fred Watts from Edna Watts and to Margaret D. Kirkpatrick from Edward A. Kirkpatrick.

Pitt Fraternity To Hear McMahon

His subject will be "Assessing the City of Pittsburgh." Harry A. Loresch, Jr., is in charge of the meeting.

The fraternity will hold a bridge party January 20 with Harold A. Packard general chairman, and a bowling party on January 28.

Maxamilian 'Heir' Sues Over Arrest

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Otto Calixto, self-styled grandson of the ill-fated Emperor Maximilian, testified in Superior Court yesterday that his arrest on a charge of passing a forged check in a store here had ruined his chance of becoming President of Mexico.

Calixto, who was exonerated, sued the store for $25,500.

Does this look Greek to you? Let's see what you can do about it. You are good if you solve this.

By KENNETH A. NAGEL
Cipher Editor

Cipher No. 40 is plenty tough. If you solve this in 12 hours you can call yourself quite a decoder. This should keep most of the fans guessing a long time.

"Bogie" did this one in 10 hours and says:

"If you have trouble with this cipher and think it is taking you too long to solve, don't become alarmed, as it really is hard."

Now for Cipher No. 39. That was another hard one. Did you complete it? Yesterday's Sun-Telegraph explained how to work it.

Watch for a tip on Cipher No. 40 in tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph. It may help you to complete the puzzle.

More original ciphers are contributed by Thomas E. Bambrey, of Everson, Pa., and Frank J. Snyder, of 1812 Clark Building. Both are having great fun decoding the cipher messages.

Miss Irene Gruey, of 2117 Noblestown road, says:

"Since I started working the original ciphers appearing in the Sun-Telegraph, I can find no better entertainment for passing the time. They keep your old brain going at full speed all the time."

PRAISES BEER AS HEALTH AID

"Eating for Health" was the subject of an address by Dr. Rasmus Alsaker, of St. Louis, recently appointed director of the Sun-Diet Health Foundation, East Aurora, N. Y., in the Second Presbyterian Church last night. The lecture was under auspices of the Pittsburgh Health Club.

Prior to his appearance at the church Dr. Alsaker spoke briefly over Station WCAE, asserting the best way to retain health is combining food properly, systematic exercising and walking in the open.

Dr. Alsaker believes that more people die from overeating than overdrinking. Of the proposed return of beer he says:

"The return of beer is a good thing. Beer really has a nutritive value and far better for the health than the bootleg that has been on the market since prohibition."

Wife Found Guilty Of Blinding Husband

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Despite efforts of her husband to shield her, Mrs. Ida Brown was found sane last night by the jury which convicted her of blinding him by pouring acid in his face.

Luis Brown, the husband, whose life was despaired of for several days after he was blinded, last September 14, testified his wife had behaved irrationally for several months prior to the lye-pouring.

PROBE OF COURT WARDS SLOW

The work of investigating homes in which Juvenile Court wards are maintained may be prolonged for more than a year and a half, the County Commissioners have been informed by Leo A. Riordan, head of the county department of investigation. Riordan yesterday suggested that the commissioners appoint more investigators to supplement the three women now visiting the homes in which wards are boarded.

Riordan said the report to be useful should be made quickly. Chairman C. C. McGovern opposed adding to the force. Commissioner C. M. Barr said he knew the reports were bearing fruit and that the women were working hard, but also opposed hiring more investigators.

Girl Rescued, 12 Flee Carlisle Fire

CARLISLE, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—About $150,000 loss is estimated today by firemen to have resulted from the blaze which destroyed a four-story brick store and apartment building, driving out 13 apartment dwellers.

Firemen carried out Miss Sally Blair, an invalid, while 12 others escaped unassisted as flames swept the building late last night.

Scissors Grinder, 65, Dies in Street

Morgue attaches today were seeking the identity of an itinerant scissors grinder and umbrella man, about 65, who fell dead in Cosmos street, Lincoln Place, late yesterday.

The victim, a scissors grinder strapped to his back, slipped on the muddy street and fell headfirst into the ditch. Death was attributed to heart disease.

DUCE OPPOSES TECHNOLOGICAL RULING FORCE

ROME, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Premier Mussolini told an American visitor today that a central master mind and central economic control are necessary in a country like America, but he is opposed to rule by technocracy.

The Premier set forth his ideas in an interview at his office in the Pallazo Venezia with Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, of Cleveland.

Technology is imperative as part of any advanced nation's governing system, he said, but life is too complex to be ruled effectively by it alone.

The much discussed word technocracy, according to the rabbi, who talked with Il Duce half an hour, seemed to imply a sort of technological absolution to the Fascist leader. He quoted Mussolini as saying:

"Man is more than technology, he is an artistic, a political and a moral being. Technology is only a section of social life, whereas the whole life of man must be satisfied."

When the rabbi asked if he thought central control of economic life possible in a country like America, he answered:

"Yes, it is possible and necessary."

In reply to a question about whether he believed a single master hand was needed to achieve this central planning, he laughed and said:

"Of course I believe a lone guiding mind to be the first requirement, but there must also be the means for achievement."

A country such as America, the premier added, must control economic life just as it controls the Army and Navy. In ruling Fascist Italy Mussolini has put this principle in practice by maintaining rigid supervision over industry.

'Slim Jim' Dukelan, Old Minstrel, Dies

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—George Washington Dukelan, 88, who appeared with virtually every large minstrel show in the East from 1870 to 1908, died yesterday at the Brunswick home in Amityville, Long Island.

During his minstrel days he was a speciality and end man with Thatcher, Primrose and West and later with the George (Honeyboy) Evans Minstrels. Because of his build he was known as 'Slim Jim."

50 Beggars Killed As Shelter Collapses

CASABLANCA, Morocco, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Fifty beggars sleeping in the shelter of a centuries-old rampart were killed or injured today when the structure collapsed.

Vibration from a burst of massed gunfire announcing the start of a local festival was believed responsible for the tragedy.

JEWEL ROBBERY SUSPECT SLAIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Anthony Indelicato, 32, indicted with four others in connection with the $300,000 Harry Glemby jewel robbery, and later released, was taken for " a ride" today.

His body, bearing several bullet wounds, was found early this morning on the outskirts of West Paterson, N. J. Identification was made through fingerprints.

New York police said Indelicato also was implicated in the killing of Joseph Weskefsky, 30, whose body, trussed in a sack, was left in an automobile parked in front of police headquarters early last month.

Man About Town

Some of the gazettes boned it plenty when reporting that Charles Farrell voyaged with Janet Gaynor. He's a married man, too! . . . Janet went to Hawaii to see the heart, Norman Gilliland, who is fractionally Oriental . . . Farrell's disappearance fooled the scribes. He was shooting quail in Mexico at the time . . . Nils Asther is almost blind from Chinese eye makeup poisoning . . . As is Barbara Stanwyck, but not from makeup . . . The two best fights in Manhattan New Years Eve were these: One in Tony's, in which two girls battled over a remark about La Bankhead—and one in a smott Park Ave. rendezvous, where the hired help slugged two dry agents for being too offensive about cuffing a check . . . With all the domestic changes in his family recently, Otto H. Kahn, before sailing, spent all week making a new will . . . "Eric MacHaye," author of the very funny "My Uncle Ned" book, is none other than the clever Arthur Somers Roche—and that lovely lady in the ciggie ad, whose hat will be a fad, is Ethelyne Holt.

Whatever became of John Golden's prize plays he announced 5 years ago? . . . P. Hammond, B. Dudley, A. Pollock and C. Miles were to be judges and John stated he would pay heavy advance royalties to winning authors . . . Wonder why Lord Castleross dropped his divorce action against his squaw? John Mason Brown, critic for the Evening Post, has a lovely bride-to-be. She is Catherine Meredith of Harrisburg, Pa. . . . One of the traffic cops in the 40s has a sensayuma. Instead of blowing a regulation police whistle, he blows a raspberry horn . . . J. M. Josefsberg is now a lawyer, and he wishes Ben Bernie would go out and have some accidents! . . . So Larry Fay's alleged slayer doesn't remember a thing? . . . S'lotta Maloney!

At one of the 50-cent pass shows on Broadway, they keep down expenses by having the star's understudy take tickets! . . . A Harvard lad can now lunch at the Harvard Club for 55c . . . "Walk A Little Faster" is kidding Ivy Lee's ads on Radio City . . . Vernon Duke, composer of that show's score, commutes to Boston on weekends to be with the Back Bay heiress he may wed . . . Gary Cooper is fed up, but doesn't know how to tell her . . . Clara Bow is the first film star to make a successful comeback . . . The Martin Sommers and the Pat O'Haras are tiny garment shopping.

The J. A. Kenyons are being blessed . . . Those air mail stamps of 1918 which are valuable should show the airplane upside down and must be 24c stamps—beg poddon . . . Margaret Perry, the actress, and Hendrik Van Loon's dancer son, Skippy, are glum. The ocean has parted them again . . . The Josef Stranskys are on the verge . . . Ditto the Jean Hersholts . . . After 12 years the Rodrian Process for the extraction of gold from ore has been perfected . . . Instead of producing gold under the present cyanide process, the new trick will recover from 800 to 1500 per cent more gold from ore.

An orchid to Mrs. Tillie LeBlang, who put hundreds of girls to work, making a house-to-house canvass selling theater tickets at reduced prices in an effort to stimulate show business . . . A scallion to the designers of Karloff's movie ad likeness, which is so hideous it frightens children into hysterics . . . An orchid to Martin and Mino, who return big money to men who get generous when blotto. One lad got back $60 after spending a loose evening there . . . And a scallion to the Gov. of Puerto Rico, who sent the New York Relief Committee a cable collect ($3.40) in acknowledging their donations to his hurricane victims.

Floyd Gibbons says that the news correspondent in "Clear All Wires" is not a caricature of him, but of Herbert Bayard Swope . . . Vilma ("Flying Colors") Ebsen and Melva (Little Show) Cornell were picked as two of the 100 local beauties now exhibiting at a Vth Ave. store . . . May Clark and L. Waycoff are on fire . . . Edith Selby Lowther and Randolph Scott are having jolly moments . . . The romance of Lupe Velez and J. Weissmuller is now a comic opera . . . Marie Prevost has shelved 40 lbs., and Buster Collier cares again . . . Lew Cody and Phyllis Crane are gem-window shopping . . . Nancy ("Kid From Spain") Nash has traded in Otto Winkler, a Los Angeles Examiner reporter, for her attorney, Jay Chotiner . . . Arthur Gregory, ex-Minister of Austria to the Argentine, who is the most highly abused author and director in H'wood, has dedicated his book of fireworks, "Beggars of Love," which is due in March, to the late Paul Bern.

I've been out of touch with things for a bit—has anyone spelled that new fangled science word "technocrazy?" . . . John Masefield, the poet-laureate of England, has a son, "Happy" Masefield, who is one of the hottest bass-players in a local orchestra . . . Leo Miller of the Bridgeport Herald and Florence D'Louhy, just a tuner-inner, were riveted on Jan. 5 . . . "Goona-Goona," released on the West Coast, taunts H'wood with these ads: "So you think you can make pictures, huh? Well, here's one you didn't make!" . . . That hotel jewel "robbery" had a smell . . . The supposed hiding place, a closet, was torn apart by police, and the gems were found there next day . . . Clyde Beatty, the lion-tamer, and Myrna Kennedy are swapping fibs . . . Mme. Grenier, once head dresser for the Queen of England, is a H'wood extra, and entertains West Coasters with royal gossip.

The smart ones suspect that Radio City Music Hall will either be the Met Opera House or a beer garden in a year . . . The Pierrette folded, owing plenty . . . The Orville Emerys anticipate a "blessed expense" . . . Roxy, whose wage is $100,000 per annum (for five years per contract), will not have power. He will be under a governing board. H. B. Franklin will be top man . . . The "Cavalcade" electric signs make the 46th corner seem gayer, anyhow . . . Corbina Wright probably will be in Kath Cornell's "Alien Corn" play . . . Kate Smith arrives today from the Hollywood asylums—occupying drawing room "A"—and (tee-hee) "B!" . . . With a nod to Rudyard Kipling, who once wrote: "And they asked me how I did it, and I gave 'em the Scripture text—'You keep your lights so shining a little in front o' the next!' They copied all they could follow, but they couldn't copy my mind, and I left 'em sweating and stealing—a year and a half behind."

Starlets Not Inclined To Work

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11.—All you would-be Connie Bennetts or Norma Shearers, don't envy the home-town girl who wins a contest or steps quickly, by any other miracle of luck, into a starlet contract at a studio.

This honor, so eagerly sought by pretty young things trying to crash the movies, is but a snare and a delusion. Fred Schuessler says so and, as casting director of RKO Fred should know. The veteran executive hands out these cold facts:

"Of the 24 girls RKO has placed under junior star contracts in the last 18 months, only two—Julie Haydon and Dorothy Wilson—have out-lived options and developed into featured players.

"The immediate recognition, the steady income stultifies ambition, breeds over-confidence.

"If I had a daughter who wanted to become a film actress, she should get at least one year's experience on the stage and another year in general extra work. Even then, I should hesitate to let her sign a starlet contract."

Young players at RKO, whose fate still hangs in the balance, are Sandra Shaw, Betty Furness and the newly signed and very attractive Gretchen Wilson.

* * *

To the rumor that she will marry David Burton, Billie Burke replies that she will never marry again. Her life, she says, will be devoted to her stage and screen career and to her daughter. And, incidentally, did you know that the real name of this actress is Ethel? Her father, a clown in Barnum and Bailey's circus, was named Billy Burke.

New York's reaction to "Cavalcade" found a quick echo in Hollywood. Before noon on the day after the eastern premiere, Winfield Sheehan received 1,500 congratulatory telegrams.

Clark Gable, Carole Lombard and Dorothy Mackaill will head the cast of the picture that will top the photoplay program opening Friday in the Penn. This will be "No Man Of Her Own," a film that promises an abundance of comedy.

Prominent artists of the stage will appear in the Stanley Sunday night at the Variety Club's annual benefit show for Catherine Variety Sheridan, 4-year-old protege of the club. Sixteen acts will compose the bill. The artists will arrive from New York Sunday morning on two special cars.

Among those already lined up for the show are Bill Robinson, Alexander Gray, Bernice Claire, Julius Tannen, Rae Samuels, Block and Sully, Peter Higgins, Nick Lucas, the Mosconi Brothers, Norman Frescott, Ada Brown, Sylvia Froos and Howard Marsh.

Warner Brothers are donating the Stanley Theater for the occasion, and the musicians, stagehands, ushers and house crew are likewise contributing their services. The show is scheduled to begin at 8:30 o'clock Sunday evening.

O. P. Heggie to Play In Lasky Film

Jesse L. Lasky, independent producer for Fox, has engaged O. P. Heggie to play the role of Dr. Grunbaum in "Zoo in Budapest," Mr. Lasky's first film for Fox in which Loretta Young and Gene Raymond are to have the leading parts. Wade Boteler has been cast for a leading part in "Road to Heaven," which already boasts a cast including Boots Mallory, Alexander Kirkland, Ralph Morgan and Irene Ware.

Mt. Lebanon Players Open Tonight

The South Hills Community Players will give their first performance tonight in Washington School Auditorium, presenting a Rachel Crothers comedy, "Let Us Be Gay," as a benefit for the needy. It will be repeated Thursday and Friday nights.

Bali Is Holmes Topic In Music Hall

Just off the coast of Java there lies a small island, Bali, the archtype of all magic lands, to which Burton Holmes will lead his travelogue audience in Carnegie Music Hall tonight.

Left pretty much to their own devices, the Balinese have hardly altered one aspect of their culture in 1,000 years, and live today totally divorced from everything we mean by "progress." Mr. Holmes went to Bali last spring to see if other travelers had told the truth about this enchanted island. Through the medium of his pictures and informative comments he invites his audtor-spectators to walk with him through lanes fragrant with tropical flowers, to see the fairy-story temple, the native dance, strange ceremonials and weird pageantry, and the famed women of Bali.

Broadways Of the World

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

GEORGE THE FIFTH HOTEL, PARIS, FRANCE.—Continuing our tour of the Parisian night life, permit me to take you next to "Noah's Ark." I suppose it's called Noah's Ark because somebody had painted a few animal pictures and not wanting them around the house any more, had sold them to a night club.

Yes, the place was crowded. They tell me the joint is getting quite a play—but ask me why and I am unable to reply. The orchestra seems to be fair enough, but the show—wow! After a dancer completed a routine that she must have picked up during the Civil War, the big feature of the show was a little Frenchman who seemed to be a great favorite with the crowd. I've lost his name and it's just as well. Was he lousy!

First he did his imitations. A Russian, an Irishman, an Englishman, a German and an American. You'd have loved his imitation of an American. All about the manner in which the American gets so tangled up in his chewing gum that he is unable to talk. When he was through, I figured the customers would hiss him from the floor. Instead, they applauded him violently.

Maybe the French conception of talent is far different from mine. I couldn't stay very long in Noah's Ark after his act was over. He seems to be a great favorite. But I think he's so terrible that I can't see how Earl Carroll ever missed bringing him over to Broadway.

I did have one amusing experience in this joint, though. It was something that almost made the spot worth the price of admission—said admission being slightly more than $8 for a bottle of wine that cost the house about 60 cents.

A very dark gentleman was the flower and cigaret man in Noah's Ark. He wore a fez and a complete Egyptian outfit, but there was something about him that looked vaguely familiar to me. I called him over and bought some cigarets.

"Seems to me I know you," I told him. "Did you ever work in the Cotton Club or in Connie's Inn up in Harlem?"

"Cotton Club?" he repeated. "Connie's Inn? Those are Paris places—or Egyptian? It is has been so long since I was in my native Egypt that I am not aware of the new places."

It was my turn to look a trifle surprised.

"What's the idea of kidding me?" I asked. "Johnny Carey and Mal Frazer are old pals of mine and you're not going to deny knowing them, are you? Are you gonna stand there and tell Hellinger that you never hung out in Harlem on the corner of 134th street and Lenox avenue?"

The cigarete man adjusted his fez and stepped back.

"I Egyptian, sir," he murmured. "I tell gentleman the truth. You will please excuse me now."

He walked away. But my curiosity was aroused and I wasn't going to let him off as easily as that. After the star actor had finished his imitations and the place was being fumigated, I struggled into my overcoat and found my Egyptian friend standing near the main entrance. I took him to one side.

"Now listen, buddy," I whispered earnestly, "I don't know why I'm going to all this trouble about you because it doesn't mean a doggone thing to me. I'm just a little daffy that way, I guess."

He started to say something. I stopped and pressed a bill into his hand.

"All I want you to do for that," I went on, "is to admit to me that that Egyptian outfit is all a gag. You do miss Harlem, don't you? The Lafayette Theater—that big pool room on 135th street—the boys and the girls you used to know. Won't you admit that you miss all that?"

"Gentleman," he said loudly, "I will admit nothing."

Then he looked around and leaned closed.

"The only thing I can say to you, boss," he whispered cautiously, "is to ask you to go away and stop talking so much about Harlem. Because you're making me powerful homesick!" . . .

The Shaharezade—and I positively refuse to guarantee the spelling—is one of the most successful spots in Paris today. Managed by two Russians who claim to be of the nobility, it is a small and highly attractive spot to visit. Incidentally, that Russian nobleman gag is being worked to death these days, especially over here. It seems to me that if all the mugs who claim to have been Russian noblemen would march into Russia again, they'd overthrow the Soviet government by sheer force of numbers.

At any rate, everything is Russian around the Shaharezade. The leader of the orchestra looked like a Hungarian to me. The waiter at my table had a decided English accent. The entertainment was by French artists, if I may make so bold. The man in the washroom was a Greek. And I distinctly heard one bird in the orchestra call another member by the name of O'Brien.

You don't have to buy wine in this spot, but you are honestly expected to. They dump your wine into your glass as rapidly as possible and bring you another bottle before you quite realize what's going on. It's just the old, friendly, homelike spirit that Paris is so famous for—at a price.

Cost of one bottle of wine and exactly 45 minutes spent in this club by your correspondent—$11.50. In other words, it is twice as expensive as the most exclusive spots of a similar nature in the city of New York . . .

"The Monocle" and "La Fetiche" are two of those Parisian spots that are designed essentially to catch the tourist. Both of them feature ladies whose duty it is to attempt to shock the customers as much as possible. In looking around me I sometimes felt that, instead of that being the case, many of the workers were more shocked by the customers.

These two places—and one or two others of a similar nature—are the only joints that the French, themselves, do not patronize liberally. They are wise to the racket, and they know how phony the entire thing is.

The entertainment in "The Monocle" and "La Fetiche" is as dull as the atmosphere. In "La Fetiche" they employ a one-man orchestra, who plays the drums and cymbals and makes various noises with his mouth. They say that when you get drunk you like his work. But who can get that drunk?

In "The Monocle," the sole entertainment is a fat mamma who leaps around like a sea elephant to the music of a combination that would make anyone hop around like a sea elephant. I've seen terrible dancers in my day, but this aged hippo cops all records.

The length of my stay in each of these joints was 20 minutes. And each stay was just 20 minutes too long . . .

Farm Moratorium Urged in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—A two year suspension of farm mortgage foreclosures was proposed in both houses of the Arkansas legislature at its second day's session yesterday.

The Senate received a bill which would declare a moratorium during this year and next year on foreclosure of mortgages on homesteads, and the House adopted a concurrent resolution calling upon chancellors of the state not to grant decrees of foreclosure for a period of two years or longer.

COMMON-SENSE ADVICE FOR RELIEVING COLDS

RECENT SCIENTIFIC INVESTIGATION FAVORS VAPEX AS A SAFE, EFFECTIVE RELIEF

A head-cold is usually so unpleasant that you'll try almost anything to get relief.

But this is unwise. Common sense tells you that forcing liquids and salves into the nose is not natural. Your nose is made for breathing. And breathing the soothing Vapex vapor is a safe, natural way to relieve colds.

A few deep breaths refresh you . . . stop the sniffles . . . clear your head and nose . . . and bring quick relief. There's no mess or trouble. Just sprinkle a few drops of Vapex on your handkerchief in the daytime and on each end of your pillow at night.

Try Vapex for your next cold and be sure you get V-A-P-E-X. Tests by an unbiased medical research laboratory definitely prove that the Vapex vapor kills germs present during a head-cold. In similar tests many other inhalants that are claimed to be "just as good" as Vapex were far inferior in germ-killing power.

Vapex is now reduced from $1 to 75c a bottle. Millions of people breathe it for colds. Sold at all druggists.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

In Mayfair
—With—
Patricia Pitt

These are grand days to get a large group of folks together, for with so little going on, no one has many engagements, and nearly everyone is still in town. For with the exception of our pre-Christmas snow, the days have been more like early spring than January.

For these reasons, this is the time of year when alumnae luncheons are frequent.

Alumnae Meeting

Farmington is surely a popular school with the smart set. Three of the debutantes were there, Althea Robinson, Laura Childs and Collie Jennings.

Althea probably will be invited to all the debutante affairs next season, by the way, for she will not be presented by her mother, Mrs. W. C. Robinson, before spring, since Mrs. Robinson is not yet out of mourning.

Laura Childs looked charming in a grey wool sports dress with a beret to match, boasting a perky feather dyed scarlet, white and blue. And she had a scarf of scarlet.

Wears Black

Marie Louise Bickford, Margaret Holdship, Ruth Willock, Betty Childs, Mrs. William H. Trimble, Laura Evans, Martha Yost, Mrs. J. Shirley Austin were others there.

Mrs. George Singer Ebbert, who is president of the Federation of Girls' School Societies also is a Farmington alumna.

Betty Childs presided at the meeting in the place of the president, Phyllis Totten, who is ill. And Miss Lillian Dermitt and others described the work being done at the Harmarville Convalescent home.

Mrs. W. D. George will start the series of bridges which raise funds for the soup and hot chocolate the Sewickley Child Health Association distributes to the public schools in the Sewickley Valley.

School Benefit

The first bridge will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Mrs. George's home. The committee will include three members of the association, Elizabeth George, Margaret Holdship and Emily Stuart.

20th Century Club Drama Unit to Give Plays

The drama committee of the Twentieth Century Club is presenting something entirely new to the club members on Thursday afternoon, the nineteenth. Plays have been given for each of the committee's monthly programs so far this season and in March the prize winning original plays will be presented. So it seems most appropriate just now to devote an afternoon to the technique of the stage.

Stage makeup will be discussed and demonstrated by Carl B. Cass, of the University of Pittsburgh; staging and lighting by George Kimberly, of Carnegie Tech, and stage costuming by Miss Elizabeth Schrader, also of Tech, who will illustrate her part of the afternoon's entertainment with student models.

Fred J. Herrington, secretary of Independent Motion Pictures of Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, will address the motion picture committee meeting of the Allegheny County Federation of Women's Clubs on Friday morning. Mr. Herrington will speak concerning block bookings and also concerning the Brookhart bill at the meeting, which will be held in the Congress of Clubs.

Tomorrow, in St. Stephen's Parish House, Wilkinsburg, the annual diocesan meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Episcopal Church will be held. Bishop Alexander Mann will celebrate communion at 10 o'clock in the church and later Miss Helen Skiles, of Uniontown, missionary to Kyoto, Japan, will speak.

A change in date has been made for the meetings of the Bradford Woods Woman's Club and hereafter they will be held the second Thursday of each month instead of the second Friday. Tomorrow evening, Mrs. Chauncey Lobingier will address the women at the home of Mrs. E. E. Kehew. Mrs. J. L. Hannan is assistant to the hostess.

Foster memorial program on Friday evening, will be much entertained during his short visit. Bowman, chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, will be host at a dinner for which 150 invitations have been sent out to representative Pittsburghers. It will be in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association Annex.

From the dinner the guests will go over to Carnegie Music Hall, where the unusually attractive program will be given in commemoration of Foster's death. Marshall Bidwell, organist, will open it with a medley of Foster airs, the string ensemble of the Tuesday Musical Club, under the baton of Ruth Thoburn Knox will play, and a quartet of Negro singers, brought by Mr. Lilly, will sing some of Foster's little known airs, which Mr. Lilly has discovered. The Tuesday Musical Foster Singers also will appear in several numbers and, to close, the assembly, with Mr. Bidwell at the organ, the double quartet leading and the ensemble accompanying, will sing "Old Folks at Home."

The concert, it must not be forgotten, is free to the public.

Gossipy Chat
By NANCY JANE

Little Betsy Cosgrave, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Farr, of the Highland Park district, who saw her mother mixing cocoa and sugar into a paste, asked, "Is that mud, mother?"

When her mother explained she was making hot chocolate, Betsy said, "But, mother, it has the expression of mud."

Have you ever noticed that in the smartest stores in New York, that the chic women shoppers check their coats when they are doing extensive shopping?

I have seen a few women do it in some of our Pittsburgh department stores, but a very few.

I think it would be a grand thing for everyone, for a winter coat becomes heavy and warm in just a short time.

Althea Robinson has interesting dark, slightly slanted eyes, have you noticed?

PEEK-A-BOO SLEEVES STYLED FOR THE SMART AMERICAN MODE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 11. — Peek-a-boo sleeves are among the newest Paris fashions. They have just been launched by Vera Borea, the young Paris designer who recently made her first tour of American cities, along with an investigation of American life. She presents this new fashion as a style which she considers will fit into the modern scheme of American feminine existence—a dress which will be equally at home in town for shopping, for bridge and for informal afternoon wear.

* * *

THE NEW sleeves are shown in today's sketch, on a blouse which accompanies a brown, short-sleeved suit. The suit itself is fashioned of boucle—a woolen fabric designed for all-year-'round wear, since it is neither light nor heavy in texture. The skirt is straight and slim with a single seam at the center-front and center-back, and the jacket just reaches the hip-bones.

* * *

NOTE THE deep U-shaped neckline on the jacket, making room for use of the blouse's collar. The jacket fastens with single-breasted closing, marked by three large white ball buttons.

* * *

THE WHITE blouse is of crepe and is worn over the skirt; like the jacket, it reaches the hips. The peek-a-boo sleeves are made by braiding bands of the crepe about the arms.

NEW BABY NEAR, MRS. SNIPES SADDENED

By JOHN K. AULL
International News Service.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 11.—Snached from the shadow of the electric chair by executive clemency, Mrs. Beatrice Ferguson Snipes, expectant mother, today awaited an event that since her sentence to execution has far outweighed the fear of impending death.

The 29-year-old mill worker expects to give birth to her baby within a week behind the walls of the state penitentiary here, where she must spend the rest of her days on earth for slaying a rural policeman.

Even as preparations were completed for the baby's birth, plans were under way for its adoption. Mrs. Snipes today said:

"I can't bear to think of not keeping my baby with me. But you see, I can't here, and there is no place for 'her' to go."

Mrs. Snipes' husband, Clyde, is serving a seven-month sentence in the same prison, a penalty which he accepted on a compromise guilty plea after being indicted as an accessory to the murder of Policeman Elliott Harris.

The other Snipes child, Clyde, Jr., 5, will be cared for by an uncle, Will Hilton, Mineral Springs, N. C., farmer.

Freedom from the death sentence came yesterday to Mrs. Snipes. She was the first white woman in the history of South Carolina to be condemnd to death.

Reversing a "hands off" policy which he had maintained since the expectant mother was condemned to die early last month by a York, S. C., court, Gov. Ibra C. Blackwood ordered papers drawn commuting sentence to life imprisonment and signed them.

COUNCIL TO HEAR APPEALS FOR FEEDING OF PUPILS

POLITICS

Session's Early Rush Result Held Gesture

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—In the first two weeks of its life the Legislature has written history without precedent, in meeting on Wednesday both weeks. The purpose was to advance bills and facilitate progress of the measures through Senate and House.

Mr. Shields

This is in line with the announced program of Republicans of all factions and the Democrats of hastening the session to a conclusion, permitting adjournment April 13.

But actually the accomplishments so far are more of a gesture than any real steps toward achievement. The legislation which has been thrust ahead is in consequential, routine measures which could have been hastened along under any conditions. No attention has been paid to the combative points sure to be raised, and over which may arise squabbling completely wrecking pledges for an early adjournment.

It is a well-known political axiom that legislative bodies can move swiftly in spending money, but must step warily when it comes to economy. That is not because of any indisposition on the part of legislators to approach their task in a sincere spirit, but is due to the fact that every effort to cut is met by opposition groups and individuals whose pet projects are affected.

Furthermore, there is a growing suspicion that the pledge for a short session was taken by some parties to the political bargain with tongue in cheek. This has been appreciated by the regular Republicans and their present strategy is designed to place on Gov. Pinchot and the Democrats any blame for delay.

Whether the ultimate picture is so painted depends on the manner in which the regulars can control their own people. There is material present for bickering within the organization, and discipline there cannot be enforced on all questions.

In No Haste to Fill County Court Post

Information about the Capitol is that the Governor does not for some time intend to fill the County Court vacancy caused by the death of Judge Thomas Jones. This vacancy, like the Common Pleas Court vacancy in Philadelphia, will remain unfilled while the play of politics goes on in Harrisburg.

But, according to every inference, the scramble for the Allegheny County place has narrowed down to three candidates, Assistant County Solicitor Ralph Frank and Attorneys Frank Piekarski and Benjamin Lencher. Frank for some time has been in the bad graces of the Governor's office and the Department of Justice, though he is reported at the moment to stand first on the preference list of County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern.

If developments of the next short period should eliminate Frank, it is understood here that McGovern would follow his plan of "alternative recommendations," offering to the Governor both Piekarski and Lencher as worthwhile candidates. This would be in accordance with the procedure he followed when Judge Ralph Smith was named to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Swearingen.

At that time McGovern told the Governor he would be equally satisfied with either Smith or Attorney W. Clyde Grubbs, and the influence of County Commissioner William D. Mansfield and Ralph Flinn was sufficient to turn the balance to Smith.

Lencher's Prominence Surprise Development

The surprising development is the prominent place given to Lencher in consideration for the appointment. Two things are understood to have brought about this situation. One is the importance of the indorsements Lencher secured from prominent Pittsburgh attorneys following his conference with Attorney General William A. Schnader a month ago. The other is the support of Edgar J. Kaufmann.

Kaufmann became closely acquainted with the Governor through his interest in the Allegheny County Emergency Association, and his attachment to relief work throughout the state. In the last statewide primary his friendship for Superior Court Judge Joseph Stadtfeld, whom the organization refused to slate for election, brought him into closer association with the Pinchot forces—though he burned no organization bridges, and by an exposition of political prescience with which he was not credited in advance judgments, promoted the fortunes of Judge Stadtfeld everywhere.

Kaufmann was also of some assistance to McGovern when the latter was elected a Republican nominee for County Commissioner.

These considerations are understood to have counteracted the fact that in more than one campaign Lencher was lined up against what might be termed the anti-Independent forces. In at least one of these campaigns, that futilely designed to make James F. Malone mayor, Lencher was closely associated with Smith.

Unless the bar is lowered against Frank, the battle today lies between Piekarski and Lencher, with the final choice resting upon the aspirant who appears to have the best chance of election after appointment.

Who Are Her Parents?

ANN MICHAELS, 4 . . . SHE DOESN'T KNOW WHERE SHE LIVES

Ann, the little girl picked up by police in the Penn avenue district last Dec. 29, on whose behalf police today are pushing a statewide search to locate parents or relatives. Oddly, no one has reported her disappearance. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

BABY ANN LONGS FOR HER HOME UNDER BRIDGE

Stray Child's Vague Descriptions Puzzle Identity Seekers

Police were still mystified today regarding the identity of a very inconsistent, but busy and happy 4-year-old girl who was picked up in the Penn avenue district December 29 and has been at the Juvenile Detention Home since.

A state-wide search for the parents of the child, begun yesterday over the police teletype system, had brought no results today.

TALKS OF FAMILY

The blue-eyed youngster, with close cropped blond hair, is consistent in but few of her statements. She insists that her name is Ann Michaels. She speaks of Pap, and Annie, who went away, and the kids.

Annie gave her a whipping for tearing her black dress and she cried and ran away, she said. The "kids" appear to be Judy, Stella, Francis, Peter and Eddie. Eddie burned her forehead with a poker, she said, and Pap gave him a licking.

She speaks of home as under a bridge, and of a company store near a school. The words horse, cow, chicken and wagon are frequently referred to by Ann. The company store is where "Pap" goes to buy meat, and is also synonymous with candy. She wants to go home. But "home" is only by the trees, under the bridge, near the company store. So police are baffled.

SANTA BROUGHT TOYS

Santa brought her some dishes and a doll, she said. "Pap" works in a kitchen, in a room, in a house and sometimes outside. Sometimes Annie went away and "Pap" was going to get a new Annie, and sometimes Annie went for the cows, Ann says. Annie calls her "baby" but she wants to be called Ann. She is happy at the Detention Home, but longs for the kids.

Who is Pap? And who is Annie? And where does little Ann Michaels belong? Nobody has appeared to claim her. Nobody has reported her disappearance.

Who is she?

Most People Fail to Recognize Own Voices When Reproduced

MISS MURRAY MAKING A RECORD OF HER VOICE . . . . . NO ONE RECOGNIZED HIS OWN

Most people do not recognize the reproduction of their own voice, declares Dr. W. N. St. Peter, professor of physics at the University of Pittsburgh. To prove it he demonstrated this on his physics class, all of whom were skeptical.

Each member repeated two lines of a Mother Goose rhyme into a dictaphone. The record was then played before the class and the students were asked to identify each voice.

Although the students immediately recognized the reproduced voices of their classmates, none was able to identify the sound of his own voice. Dr. St. Peter said:

"The sound of one's own voice reaches the auditory nerves through the jawbone instead of through the ear. This changes the quality of the sound, usually conveying to the individual a deeper tone than that heard by others. Naturally, when a person hears his voice reproduced on the dictaphone record, he is hearing it through his ear for the first time, and fails to recognize it."

Crunching of hard candy and celery, which sound so loud to the individual, he explained, is merely intensified because the sound reaches the ear through the jawbone, and is therefore not as disturbing to dinner companions as supposed.

SCHOOL BOARD CONTROL OF FUND URGED

Oppose Placing Work With Emergency Association

The problem of feeding the city's hungry school children was to be discussed before Council this afternoon at a public hearing.

The hearing, recently granted to representatives of the League for Social Justice, was to be open to other social and civic organizations.

ASSOCIATION HIT

The Allegheny County Emergency Association was denounced and resolutions asking Council to put food relief for school pupils in the hands of the Board of Education were passed at a joint meeting held last night in the Roosevelt Theater, 1862 Center avenue, by the Young People's Socialist League of Allegheny County, the Workers' Athletic and Sports' Association of Pittsburgh, the Young Falcons and the Unemployed Citizens' League.

Members of Council expect the various groups to support the school board of request for $100,000 with which to feed undernourished school children. The request was denied recently by a committee of nine, headed by Councilman Robert Garland. The committee, appointed by John S. Herron, president of Council, decided the Emergency Association was the proper agency to distribute food relief to pupils and advised the school board to supply the association with the names of children lacking food.

LABOR CRITICISM

This arrangement, however, immediately aroused the disapproval of several of the civic organizations invited to today's hearing—notably the Unemployed League of Pittsburgh and the Central Labor Union.

The organizations invited to attend the hearing are:

The Child Health Council of Allegheny County, Conference of Progressive Labor Action, Council of Jewish Women, General Health Council of Allegheny County, Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women, Public Health Nurses' Association, Socialist Party of Allegheny County, Unemployed League of Pittsburgh, Women's Legislative Committee, Allied Boards of Trade, Central Labor Union, Civic Club of Allegheny County, Methodist Social Service Commissiona and the Pittsburgh Council of Parent-Teachers' Association.

SEA CHAT HEARD BY ENGINEERS

The telephone has linked all continents into a "world-wide community" H. P. Charlesworth, president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and vice president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, told an audience of 400 members of the Pittsburgh section of the engineers' organization last night in the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Charlesworth and F. J. Chesterman, of the Bell Telephone Company, demonstrated by a trans-Atlantic chat with H. E. Shreeve, British representative in London for the American Teleghaph and Telephone Company. The conversation was heard by the meeting through amplifiers.

FALL ON STAIRS KILLS MAN

Frank A. Porter, 44, of 2303 Salisbury street, was dead today from a fractured skull suffered in a fall down the balcony steps at the South Thirtieth street car barn last night, police said.

Porter, who had been drinking, was sitting at the foot of the steps while his friend, John Freund, of 2424 Cobden street, went to a nearby store for a package of cigarets, according to Capt. John H. Schnurr and Homicide Detective John Riley. When Freund returned, he found Porter lying on the ground, his skull fractured. The victim apparently started up the stairs and lost his balance.

The body was removed to the county morgue, where an autopsy was performed. Freund was released after being questioned.

The bank has not paid a dividend, the disbursement being held up pending completion of reorganization plans.

P. O. Shennum, receiver of the Highland National Bank, reported that $395,500 of the $437,600 Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan had been repaid during the past quarter. Uncollected assets totaled $2,279,798.

Bernard Shaw stopped over just long enough to make one speech in Bombay, India, started a war and 100 Indians killed each other. That's what I call good speechmaking. The only enthusiasm any of our speakers can rouse is a demand to kill the speaker. Shaw is headed for Hollywood. We will buy one of his scenarios and he will just love us.

Seems We Never Emerge From a Barroom Battle

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

There will be no repeal this session unless we allow Congress to go into the saloon business.

That distinguished huddle of men desires control of the kegs, the barrels and the vats. If the individual state becomes monarch of the swinging door it might bruise the privilege.

So we are just where we started. In a barroom squabble.

The writer has no interest in the financial side of the argument. For thirty years he has been noted for his will power. He could either be treated or let it alone.

There will be no tightrope walking along the brass rail until March. Then we get a new set of tires except for the two on the back wheels.

Our national elections are not so sweeping as you think. Looking over some of the names on the list it ain't so much of a landslide. It's more like a grocer shaking up a box of berries.

ARMS EMBARGO PLAN DOOMED

The chief executive asked that the long-pending international arms convention be ratified or that he be given authority to declare munitions embargoes as a means of preventing military conflicts.

But as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was called together to take up the request, Chairman Borah recalled that the convention, signed in Geneva, in 1925, had been put aside by the committee without action years ago.

From a Republican Representative—Fish, of New York—came a sharp attack on Mr. Hoover's special message. He described it as the "weakest and vaguest" of all the papers the President has sent to Congress and predicted no such legislation would be approved.

HIGHWAY PATROLMAN IN 'COAL BUSINESS'

CORP. F. R. CLARK SERGT. A. H. KRATZKE PATROLMAN J. E. FINNIN

Highway Patrol Gives Seized Coal to Needy

The family of Charles Ceyrolles, Imperial, yesterday feared trouble was in store when they saw state highway patrolmen drive up to their home.

But instead of bringing bad news, the officers promptly unloaded three and a half tons of coal and drove off.

Last Saturday night, Patrolman J. E. Finnin arrested a driver of a coal truck at the Campbells road and the Steubenville pike for reckless driving and failing to have the 1933 license plates attached to the car. He ordered the driver to proceed to a justice of the peace office, and followed in his motorcycle. The driver fled from the truck when it was stopped by traffic, the officer reported. The truck and coal were kept in an Ingram garage under lock and key.

Sunday, an attempt was made to steal the truck from the garage, but the person was scared away.

Monday morning, Donald Dodd, of Adori street, Sheridan, owner of the truck, was arrested at his home when he was identified by Officer Finnin, police said.

At a hearing before Justice of the Peace James W. Watson, Ingram, Dodd stated the coal was not his and he did not know who put it in the truck. He was committed to the county jail for failure to pay a $35 fine for the two charges.

Finnin, accompanied by Corp. F. R. Clark, in charge of the Imperial sub-station, and their superior, Sergt. A. H. Kratzke, in command of the district, unloaded the coal.

2 BOYS SEIZED ON FIRE ESCAPE

Two boys captured last night on the fire escape of the Stanley Theater as they were alleged to have attempted to jimmy a window of the manager's office, were held in Central Police Station today.

The two, docketed as Louis Moroni, 17, of 18 Congress street, and Paul Chrillo, 17, of 96 Yuba way, were charged with being suspicious persons. They were captured when Mrs. William S. Scott, wife of the theater manager, heard noises and summoned help, according to Detectives Albert Barry and Robert Best.

On Paul's sweater detectives reported finding a Masonic pin, which, among other things valued at $250 and $65 in cash, had been stolen a week ago from Scott's office. Scott identified the pin, but the pair denied the robbery. They said they wanted to steal their way in to see the show.

Man Struck By Auto In Downtown Street

Struck by an automobile at Seventh street and Duquesne way last night, John Polasky, 40, of 2321 Roland street, was in critical condition in Allegheny General Hospital today. E. H. Theakston, of 5014 Liberty avenue, alleged driver of the car, was arrested.

Undertakers Hunt Wife For Morgue Official

Wanted: A suitable life partner, wife and helpmeet, a brunette weighing at least 125 pounds, able to snugly fill a large easy chair that was presented to John P. Black, superintendent of the Allegheny County Morgue, last night.

A "liberal reward" for such a person was offered by the Funeral Directors' Association of Allegheny County, which presented the chair to Black at its annual dinner. The morgue superintendent was the honor guest.

Toastmaster Edward C. Koontz noted the fact Black is a bachelor, and announced the quest for a wife for him. The morgue superintendent said he appreciated the kindly intent of his friends, but he thought he was old enough to take care of himself, and is quite willing to do without a wife.

Several speakers, including Coroner W. J. McGregor, paid tribute to Black, who has been in the county service 35 years. Reference was made to his efficiency in numerous major disasters during his service.

JOHNSON RAPS ECONOMY BODY LEADERS

Conflicting statements by leaders of the National Economy League were assailed by National Commander Louis A. Johnson, dinner-meeting guest last night of the Allegheny County Executive Committee of the American Legion, in the Fort Pitt Hotel.

While Admiral Richard Byrd publicly was denying that the league, known to legionnaires as "Nel," sought alone to reduce veterans' appropriations, a committee member, Archibald Roosevelt, cited in a published article, that only the veterans' funds could be reduced, Johnson said. The Commander then read from the Congressional Record of May 18, 1932:

"Mr. Archibald Roosevelt heads the self-styled national economy committee which wants to reduce veterans' relief. In 1930, the Roosevelt Steamship Company, of which Mr. Roosevelt was part owner and a director, secured a 10-year contract from the government to carry mail from Baltimore to Hamburg. The contract price is $6 a mile for 52 trips a year which amounts to $24,462 a trip or $1,272,014 a year. Other steamship lines would have rendered the same service for not to exceed $28,246."

Commander Johnson denied the burden of veterans' relief was excessive. He said three-fourths of taxes paid are for local and state governments. Federal support of veterans being removed, the burden would fall upon local governments and add further to those tax burdens, he said.

The legion's national program in rehabilitation, child welfare and Americanism was reviewed by the speaker. National defense on the standard of the national defense act of 1920 was demanded.

'Squire Williams as Detectives Seized Him

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE HENRY WILLIAMS (THIRD FROM LEFT) AS COUNTY DETECTIVES SEIZED HIM IN HIS OFFICE

REPORT FOILING 'SHAKE DOWN' BY SQUIRE

County detectives today reported they had frustrated what they said was a plot to "shake down" a motorist accused of driving under the influence of liquor when they raided the offices of Justice of the Peace Henry Williams, of Stowe Township, and the township police station last night. Dockets and records were seized and Williams was ordered to present himself at the District Attorney's office with $2,500 bail today. He was charged with extortion.

Walter S. Roberts, of 3610 Colmar avenue, Bloomfield, was arrested December 25 and posted bond for violation of the state motor code the following day. Last night, the detectives said, he paid Williams $50 in marked money, supposedly a fine.

As they rushed in, the detectives reported, Williams threw into a fire, in the police station, the information against Roberts, together with two bail pieces Roberts had posted.

PAPERS DESTROYED

The papers were burned but the money, two $20 bills and two $5 bills, were found on Williams' person, the detectives said.

County Detectives Peter A. Connors, Samuel J. Riddle, John Duderstadt and Leo Dunn, led by Special Investigator David Drexler, of the District Attorney's office, made the raid. They accompanied Roberts, who had made a complaint to the District Attorney's office, Williams, they said, had made an appointment with Roberts.

ASKS FOR DOCUMENTS

Roberts was instructed by the officers to ask for the return of his bail pieces after the money was paid over. When he did so, he told the detectives, Williams replied:

"What do you want them for—they're no good to you."

Roberts said he told him his bondsman wanted it.

When he insisted, Roberts declared:

"He bunched up a lot of papers and threw them all into the stove."

At that moment the county detectives rushed in. The papers were in ashes before they could reach them.

RECORDS LACKING

Search of the police docket showed no disposition of the case, nor could an information or the physician's certificate of intoxication be found, the detectives said.

The case had been entered on the hearing list for December 29, but there was no entry as to disposition. Under the law a justice of the peace can only hold a defendant for court on a charge such as Roberts faced, or, if the evidence is not sufficient, discharge him.

Williams told detectives it was customary for him to hold such cases over without making an entry until disposition had been made. He said the $50 covered fine and costs, but could not explain under what law the fine could be levied, the detectives said.

CAN'T FIND CERTIFICATE

Members of the police department told detectives there had been a certificate which attested Roberts had been "slightly intoxicated", but none knew where it had been filed.

Among the cases noted in the police docket and adjudged by Williams were scores of violations of township ordinances for driving through stop signs and red lights. In the 'squire's personal letter file was a copy of a communication to the state comptroller from Williams in explanation of a delay in filing returns on fines collected for motor violations.

EINSTEIN AGAIN GOES TO SCHOOL

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The story of how the earth as a comparatively little speck fell out of the line of march of the expanding universe and thus became a habitat for human beings was the first lesson for Prof. Albert Einstein as he returns to school today.

This makes the Berlin scientist's forty-seventh year in school, for, while the world of science regards him as one of its distinguished thinkers, he chooses to regard himself as a student.

Today's teacher, some 20 years younger than Einstein, is the Jesuit priest who has won fame by expounding the Einstein theory of relativity, Abbe Gorges le Maitre, of the University of Louvain, Belgium.

Le Maitre's discussion of the expanding universe was the topic for the day of the Journal Club at the library of the Mt. Wilson Observatory here.

Eleanor Boardman's Husband Fights Separation Suit

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Denials of the allegations of Eleanor Boardman, screen star, that her husband and another woman had engaged in improper associations were on file in Superior Court today by the husband, King Vidor, screen director, and Betty Hill, named by Miss Boardman as co-respondent.

The charges of the actress were contained in a suit for separate maintenance.

Besides the answers of Vidor and Miss Hill, Charles Hiranval, a chef, was called to give a deposition, but his testimony was objected to by an attorney for Miss Boardman and the question will be argued when the case is called for trial. Hiranval claimed he was a chef in the home of Harry D'Arrast and through him efforts were made to show that Miss Boardman was a visitor there on many occasions.

GARAGE FUMES KILL STEEL MAN

Glenn Eberhardt, 38, of 1301 Craig street, McKeesport, was found dead last night from carbon monoxide poisoning in the garage in the rear of his home, the Coroner's office reported.

The body was discovered by his mother. The ignition key of the automobile was on and the engine stopped after the gasoline became exhausted, it was reported. Eberhardt was chief clerk in the railroad department and assistant paymaster of the Edgar Thomson Steel Works, Homestead. He was past exalted ruler of B. P. O. Elks, No. 36, McKeesport.

'Second Story' Man Takes $500 Jewelry

Jewelry valued at $500 was stolen last night from the home of G. R. Corbett, of 2937 Glenmawr avenue. The burglars placed a ladder to the second story window in the rear and ransacked the house.

BROKER, AUNT AMBUSHED

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Mystery of a vicious attack by gunmen on Ralph H. Chapman, 67-year-old investment broker, and his 84-year-old aunt, Miss Ettie L. Alford, in the driveway of his home, was deepened today when the broker refused to aid police.

"If I knew I was going to die, I would tell something."

Informed that his wounds would not be fatal, Chapman, a former Pasadena city councilman, declined to make any additional statement on this second attempt on his life within five months. His aunt's condition was serious.

Chapman and Miss Alford were the targets of a hail of lead from sawed-off shot guns and possibly revolvers. The assailant, or assailants, had hidden in the shrubbery bordering the driveway.

SALES SPURRED AT AUTO SHOW

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Something of a sales spurt, a bit surprising because of its early appearance, was reported today at the national automobile show.

Usually the first few days of a show are given over to "looking around," but salesmen said that deals in the early stages of this show were closed with a quickness which helped make them optimistic. The number of prospects is greater than expected, they said, and car-buying thus far indicates a trend upward.

Mild weather yesterday attracted a "much greater throng" than Monday to Grand Central Palace, where the sleek creations of the automotive art and science beguile the eye of motor car lovers.

Crowded aisles buzzed with talk of the new streamlining, draftless ventilation, and many other novel things that were to be seen. Conveniences galore mark the new models. One company has even placed a towel rack under the dash on the right side of the front compartment.

COUNTY PUSHES DAMAGE CLAIM IN HEARING

Allegheny County representatives today appeared before Public Service Commissioner S. Ray Shelby to advance the county claim for more than $300,000 from the city, representing property damages the city is alleged to have agreed to pay in connection with construction of the Sixteenth Street Bridge.

The county admitted there was no legal contract made between City Council and the County Commission, but Attorney Mortimer B. Lesher said he could produce evidence that Council had been in accord with the bridge project and, by resolution, agreed to pay its share of the damages. A second hearing will be held in the near future for presentation of this evidence.

The debt was one of many discussed by the county and city representatives at a conference yesterday. Sums totaling from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 are due the county or are in the process of being settled, it was announced at the close of the meeting.

$347,720 CLAIMED

The Sixteenth Street Bridge claim was made about two months ago after county auditors investigated. The county claims $347,720.49 with interest from February 15, 1921, which brings the total to about $500,000.

The county also maintains that the city owes $52,409.40 under the contract for construction of the Armstrong tunnels. The city asserts this amount is not correct, as the city was never officially notified the tunnel was finished. Interest on this debt would run from May 25, 1927.

Commissioners C. C. McGovern and C. M. Barr, Solicitors J. P. Fife and John Lauer and Deputy Controller Nevin Woodside represented the county and Controller James P. Kerr and Asistant City Solicitor Thomas M. Benner the city at the conference.

OTHER DEBTS

In addition to the city debts, the county announced that a bill of $9,180.35 due from Clairton was settled for $4,000 after it was discovered Clairton had done more than its share on a road job. McKeesport has acknowledged a debt of $105,080 with interest since July 21, 1927, for work on the Riverton bridge.

The Union Railroad is said to owe $124,640.24, the Pittsburgh Railways Company $32,000 and the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad, $57,758.90. Westmoreland County also owes Allegheny County several hundred dollars, the total of three small debts.

East Pittsburgh has made partial payment on a $20,000 debt for its share of the cost of paving Brinton avenue. Beaver County owes approximately $2,000 and Washington County $14,000.

Among the other many debts is one of $18,000 from Verona, but this is being held up pending settlement of the Allegheny River boulevard litigation.

DRIVERS URGED TO DROP LIGHTS

The Pittsburgh Motor Club today called on automobile drivers to show consideration for others by lowering headlight beams at night when passing other cars. The club's safety department said:

"That thousands of sets of headlights are out of adjustment and blind other drivers when the 'high' beams are left on as cars pass each other is shown by the fact that more than 73 per cent of all vehicles examined during the last 1932 compulsory inspection period had defective lighting equipment. We have had complaints from motorists that drivers are neglecting to show the common courtesy of lowering headlights at night."

The Motor Club recently petitioned the State Bureau of Highway Patrol and Safety to change its focusing requirements, asserting garages focus headlights so low during inspections that it is unsafe for motorists to drive faster than 35 miles an hour at night even with the high beams. A club officer said:

"We believe it is more important to have enough light to drive safely at all speeds than to have lights focused so low they can't blind. However, under this arrangement it will be absolutely necessary for all drivers to 'lower' their driving beams when passing."

Pitt Co-Eds Set Forth Rules for 'Ideal Man'

MISS MILLIKEN IN ONE OF 100 INTERVIEWS WITH STUDENTS

Campus Queens Hold Good Looks Prime Requisite

Handsomeness is the outstanding personality trait desired by co-eds at the University of Pittsburgh in their ideal man, while the men want their girls intelligent.

That is what Lois Milliken, of 8 Ohio street, Emsworth, learned when she gave a questionnaire to 50 men and 50 women students on the Pitt campus.

Forty-five out of 50 co-eds said their man "must be good looking." The other four qualities that received the next greatest number of votes were good dancing, ambition, intelligence and conversational ability. Miss Milliken says in a story which will appear tomorrow in the Pitt Panther:

"I discovered one character who is so unusual that I think he deserves special mention. This abnormality according to the co-ed who described him is tender, sweet, temperamental, sophisticated and collegiate. I would like to turn him over to the Carnegie Museum or some psychiatrist."

The girls listed 65 qualities in all. Those that rated next in importance were dependability, honesty, sense of humor, considerate, sophisticated, naive, social prestige, sympathetic and wealth.

The men's ideas on the question are different. They rated intelligence first with almost a unanimouse vote. Next were good looks, a sense of humor, good dancer and cheerfulness.

Guthrie, of the Pennsylvania Elections Conference, today said prompt action should be taken at the conference's mass meeting tomorrow night. The conference represents 40 organizations seeking reform in the election laws.

Guthrie said the removal of Senator Harris should be a warning that the program of the conference will be hard fought.

QUICK! STOP THAT COLD

A cold ordinarily goes through 3 stages: The Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. It is twice as easy stopped in the first stage. In fact, when a cold gets beyond the first stage it may become serious.

As your doctor will tell you, there is nothing better you can take for a cold than Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. It does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels. That is the relief you want and anything less is courting danger.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful. May be safely taken by young and old and whether you stay indoors or go out. There is absolutely no penalty attached to its use. For more than 40 years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet of the world, the formula keeping pace with Modern Medicine. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine now comes in two sizes—30c and 50c. TELL IT TO ELSIE

-:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:-

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Lack of Gumption Is Cause Of Much Unhappiness

Is God an old meanie?

"Honeygirl" thinks He is—and does. So she sits around weeping big, wet tears, wringing her lily white hands and bawling out the Almighty—and expects us to help.

Will we? Wait and see!

Dear Elsie Robinson—

I hope you will answer this letter, but I don't guess it would do any good if you did.

My wedding day is almost upon me. I hate it. I dread it. I don't even consider it sacred. And all my life I have looked forward to marriage. But now that I am marrying a man I don't want, what have I to live for? What is there to care about?

LOVES ANOTHER MAN

Everything I do, everything I say, always makes me pray to God, and beg God to let me say and do all the things I can for the man I do love. If he could only know, he would never perform the marriage ceremony, slipping my life from the decent and respectable to something I hate. You see, this man I really love is a minister, and he will perform the ceremony giving me to this other man.

Oh, I have lived a million tortures and more agony than I could ever stand against just thinking of it. How can life be like that? How can God be so cruel?

I have always lived a Christian life, working hard for the church and God, and although I don't expect my reward in this life, I can't think that I should be made to go into a living death by marrying into hatred. All this bursts out into hate, although I know that isn't doing any good—although I know I can't stop it now. I pray God to try to prevent it, to stop it.

THINKS OF RELATIVES

I have thought of running away. I could stand the shame and the insults, but there are others to think of. My mother and brothers—they do not know. I attempted once to tell my mother that I didn't love him, but I could see how she would suffer, so I stopped.

Oh, what can I do? I have always worshipped God and worked in the church, and now I have a feeling to live a crazy, wild life, so that everything will end soon.

I have prayed God continuously to help me, but I guess it is not in His hands, but in mine. And I must think of those who rejoice in my wedding.

I shall face the man I really love, performing the ceremony giving me to the man I do not want. I shall smile at him, but my heart will be heavy. And afterward I shall be raging inside. I shall hate and cry with disgust, as God sends me into marriage with someone I don't want, and the man I love helps push me along. Why? Why do I have to have this happen? Please pray for me.

HONEYGIRL.

SPOILING OWN LIFE

Why do you have to have this happen?"

You don't—from anything you've told me. Then, what is wrong?

Your own spinelessness, youngster.

God isn't being cruel to you. Neither is life. You're being cruel to yourself; spoiling your own life, because you haven't gumption enough to do your own thinking and fight your own battles.

All your life you've expected either Mama or God to make your decisions for you; tried to beg off from facing reality, because you've "lived a Christian life." But there's no law against a Christian using his or her brain and developing a backbone. Christ certainly used both—and advised others to do so. And if you're in a jam now, lady, it's your own fault, not the Deity's.

So if you don't want to marry this man, don't. Say so and stick to it. And for the luvva Mike, stop whining because Heaven won't act as your bodyguard. It's "Christians" like you that put the jinx on all religion.

Stand up and act like a regular human being. Perhaps then—but certainly not until then—you'll have a right to ask favors of God.

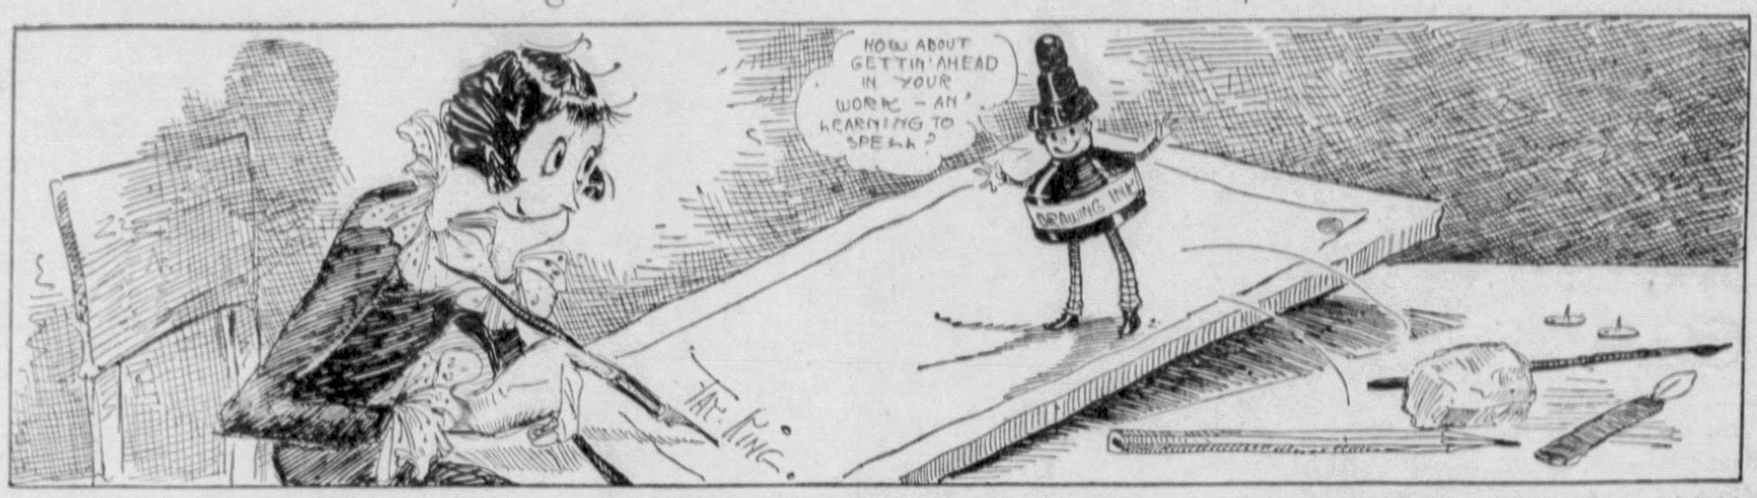
Fay King Would Miss "Pan" Mail From Good Spellers



By FAY KING

"How about getting ahead in your work, and learning to spell?"

Perhaps it was my conscience; perhaps it was the boss; perhaps it was my silent partner, the drawing ink bottle, that said this.

Not that I lack the will, but I just cannot fool my head and hand. When the story and cartoon for the day are done they refuse to do another until next day.

I've been fired, and I have resigned on this account, but have been reinstated because, if never ahead, at least I am never behind.

As for my bad spelling—how I'd miss my kindly "pan" mail from smart spellers if I improved!

Heart of a Wife -:- Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Ronald, Reluctant, Nevertheless Spies on Brixton

What lay behind the truculent announcement of Samuel Brixton that he meant, the first thing in the morning, to "tackle" the man from whom Brock had obtained the description of the car in which Marion and Carolyn had been taken away?

"I must beg of you, Mr. Brixton, not to go near this man," my father replied. "We have taken every precaution to avoid publicity in this thing, and you have agreed with us that it is most undesirable, both for our chances of recovering the girls and for their peace of mind later on.

"Brock is a past master of disguise. The man he interviewed has no suspicion that Brock was anything more than a casual acquaintance listening to idle gossip. But if a second person should talk to him on the same subject—you see, do you not?"

"Oh, I suppose so," Sam Brixton returned ungraciously. Then he rose abruptly, crossed to his wife and reached down his hands to grab hers.

"Come, darling," he said, and the tender tones of his voice could not have been recognized as coming from the same throat that had voiced the raucous, rasped utterances to which we just had been listening. "There's nothing more that can be done until morning. You must rest, even if you can't sleep."

RONALD PERPLEXED

She rose submissively, clinging to him.

"Ronald?" she said appealingly.

"Yes, mother," he said tenderly. "I'll be along in just a minute. I want to ask Noel something."

But it was not Noel to whom Ronald spoke when the sound of a closing door down the corridor signaled the entrance of the Brixton's into their own room. White-lipped, trembling, he faced my father again.

"Do you think he meant that last thing he said, or was it just a bluff?" he demanded. "Because, if it wasn't a bluff, perhaps after all he isn't in this."

My throat went dry at the anguished doubt in the boy's voice, and my father's eyes were filled with compassion as he gave reluctant answer to Ronald's cry.

"That is something we can not possibly tell at this time, Ronald," he said. "We all hope with you that he knows nothing of this, but as we cannot be sure, we must watch his movements carefully. Now—there is no one among us—" He stopped, and we all realized his reluctance to ask the boy to spy upon the movements of the only father he ever had known.

AN UNPLEASANT TASK

"I am among you," Ronald returned. "I have been watching his every movement, and I shall go on with my spying. It is horrible—but it is my sister in the hands of those kidnapers—my sister and—Marion."

"We all understand, lad." Harry Underwood's big hand was on his shoulder. "Yours is the hardest task of all, but it must be performed. Better cut along now, or your mother will be sending for you."

"I'll stay down in the lobby until the last lounger gets out, around midnight," Noel volunteered. "If you want me for anything, Ron, just phone down, and I'll be up the next minute."

"Thank you, old man," Ronald said gratefully as he went out of the door, and Noel was almost at his heels.

"I'll just go along down now, if you don't need me," he said. Harry Underwood waited only until the door had closed behind him before addressing my father.

"When do you want us, Chief, and where?"

"Over at the school, about 11 o'clock," my father said promptly. "That will give Richard and me time to get hold of Hugh."

Philip Veritzen rose, and I guessed that what Mrs. Tizer would call his "fetchiness" had been aroused.

"I take it you will not need me," he began, "so I'll—"

Household Hints

Lemons may be kept fresh and good for a month if placed on clean sheets of writing paper and covered with glass tumblers.

If after washing lettuce for a salad you loosely put it into a kitchen towel and give the towel a few swift turns in the open air, you will find the lettuce dry and crisp.

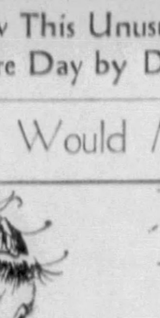
When cooking spare ribs, first boil them, remove scum, and when partially done place in a baking pan and add salt and pepper. Bake slowly and do not brown too much.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Ventilate the Home in Winter, Too

Tremendous strides have been made in the study of ventilation and in the regulation of house heating. The modern theater, even in the summer months, is made endurable by its cooling system. It a pleasure now to travel in Pullman cars which are cooled and ventilated.



Dr. Copeland

Not so long ago I visited a newly constructed hospital. It was equipped with all modern conveniences, but what impressed me most was its perfect system of ventilation.

The superintendent conducting me about, pressed a button and started the motors which pumped fresh air into each room. The rooms are heated in cold weather by passing warm air through the ventilators, and cooled in summer, by sending cold air through the ventilator system.

With all the advances we have made in ventilation and heating, many persons still show little interest in the air they breathe. This is particularly true during the winter months. When the thermometer drops and snow is on the ground, windows are barred and the air in most homes is stifling. Vitiated air or air without life, is present in a room that is not properly ventilated. Such air is detrimental to good health.

Susceptibility to colds and infectious diseases can be traced to the faulty habit of living in overheated homes. Continued breathing of impure air leads to headache, loss of appetite, and digestive disturbances. It prepares the way for the common cold, grippe and pneumonia.

It is not essential to have the elaborate mechanism found in the hospital I visited. Proper ventilation can be maintained by any method that furnishes a continuous stream of fresh air. This is well accomplished by window ventilation. The windows should be opened at top and bottom. Keep the doors closed and avoid drafts.

Bear in mind that proper ventilation is comfortable. The room should never be chilly or drafty. The temperature of the room should be between 65 and 72 degrees Fahrenheit.

I have mentioned the necessity of having fresh air and proper temperature. Humidity is the third important factor in the proper conditioning of air. Most homes are overheated, containing an excess of dry air. Excessive heat produces dryness of the air, with marked lack of moisture.

Humidity is best preserved by having a low temperature. Likewise, the air can be moistened by keeping a pan of water on the radiator, stove or gas heater.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

The gaminish bob, shingled at the back, is as out of style as pigtails. Some women hang onto it because it does away with the need of fussing with rear curls, but what's that, with beauty shops in every business block and charges for beauty attentions down to bed rock? Gone also is the long floating bob. It was a sweet thing, but it had to retire.

Would have the mouth take on more of the character of the Cupid's bow? Anoint with cold cream, place the first finger in the center of the upper lip, thumb at one end, second finger at the other. Keep first finger stationary, draw thumb and second finger to it, repeat. This movement is included in almost every facial treatment. No trick a-tall.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

The Pitt Coup at Bridge

The old Whist players gave us much of the terminology used in Bridge. When an unusual play was invented in the game of tactics, which was Whist, those who later took up Bridge Whist, Auction and Contract, took over bodily the terminology of the parent game to describe the same play at Bridge. Thus we have the Deschapelles Coup, named for one of the most famous French Whist players of all times, which involves the sacrifice of a winning card to remove an entry from a dangerous hand; the Vienna Coup, named because a Viennese player, whose identity is now unknown, discovered it; the Bath Coup, which takes it name from the interesting English city of Bath, long famous watering place and a center of Whist play for high stakes; as well as various other plays not so common, the names of which are thus not so easily identified. Under this classification comes a play known as the Pitt Coup, of which the hand below is an interesting example. The Pitt Coup is a play by which the Declarer places himself in a position to lead through his left-hand adversary in a suit in which the Dummy holds a major tenace over an adverse minor tenace.

West opened the heart 9 in response to his partner's bid. East won with the Ace and returned the suit, South winning with the King. South then laid down the Ace of spades and played the 8 from Dummy—a play marking the expert, as it retained equals in the trump suit in both hands. When East's Queen fell on this trick, the card was plainly marked as a singleton, so South decided to play for a 2-2 split in diamonds. He therefore led the Ace of diamonds and followed with the Knave. West won this trick with the King and now led a club. A diamond was discarded from Dummy, and East won the trick with the Ace. East now led the heart Knave, which South trumped with the spade King, and led the 7 of spades. His foresight in playing the 8 rather than the 6 on the first lead of trumps now reaped its due reward. Whatever play West made, the rest of the tricks were the Declarer's. If he covered, of course his trumps would be pulled, and South would discard his blocking diamond on the fourth round. If he failed to cover, the trump suit would be continued, and the same play would permit the fulfillment of the contract.

An unusually difficult situation had been met in a masterly way.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Mrs. Culbertson will be glad to answer any specific question on bidding or play sent in by readers. Address her in care of this newspaper, inclosing a three-cent stamped self-addressed envelope.

TODAY'S QUESTION

East deals and bids one heart. South bids one spade. What strength must West have to bid?

Answer: The player should respond normally, except that a no-trump response should not be made unless holding a stopper in the adversely bid suit. Furthermore, the honor-trick requirement for Take-outs and playing-trick requirements for a Raise should not be shaded, as the bidding is kept open for the Opening bidder by the opponent's Overcall.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Bridge Party

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—I have been invited to an informal bridge party and I would like to know the proper dress for this occasion? I have a black street dress with white puffed sleeves, and white collar, and I would like to know if this dress would do, without having to buy another one?

2—Would it be all right if I take my escort with me, even though he is not invited?

I am 17 years of age.

A LOVER OF YOUR COLUMN.

1—This dress that you describe seems to me to be quite perfect for this occasion.

2—No, this wouldn't be thoughtful to your hostess or host. But, if you know your hostess very well, you might ask her if you may bring a young man friend with you. Since the party is a bridge party, she may find it inconvenient to stretch the number, for she may have her tables made up. So make it very clear to her that, if she has her numbers for the table completed, you will thoroughly understand if she cannot invite more guests. She may suggest that your friend might "come in later," after the bridge has been played.

Correct Signature

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please advise me the correct way for a married couple to sign a letter or note when only their given names are used? Should the gentleman's name or the lady's name be written first? S.

There is always much discussion about this sequence, but generally speaking it seems best and more natural for the woman's name to come first.

YES, LOTS WHITER!

"One big box goes so far," says Mrs. A. Williams of Philadelphia

"I NEVER saw a soap that goes as far as Rinso does. With a single large package of Rinso I did a big wash for my family of 5, washed the dishes, sinks and tubs 6 times and still had quite a lot of Rinso left. Here is some of the washing I did:

1 bed pad	6 dish towels	4 nightgowns
3 bureau scarfs	27 handkerchiefs	1 apron
1 face cloth	27 children's dresses	8 pairs socks

READJUSTMENT IN FORCE SINCE 1921

WHILE ADMITTING THAT the action of Commissioner K. M. Landis in voluntarily slashing his own salary twice, first from $65,000 to $50,000 and then to $40,000, may have the effect of making major league players more willing than they would have been otherwise to accept the wage reductions that many 1933 contracts will show, the holdout alarmists say it will be offset by a new clause in the contracts calling for big leaguers to accept minor league pay if released to smaller loops after signing for the season. It is predicted the players will refuse to accept this condition.

K. M. Landis

On the contrary, they have been accepting it for years. There is absolutely nothing new about the condition, for the present major-minor agreement, which was signed on January 14, 1921, includes the following rule: "A player who has failed to maintain a major league standard of play, and whose contract is assigned to a minor league club, must expect a readjustment of salary in conformity to the salary limit of the club to which he is transferred. This rule shall apply to all classifications."

THE ONLY CHANGE is that the provision is being inserted in the 1933 major league contracts as a new clause. Even this is a mere formality, as the point really was covered in the old contracts, in which the player signing agreed to abide by "all other rules and regulations of arganized baseball." As this was one of the rules it was just as binding on the player as it will be now.

Some players, however, when released to the minors under option, were given their original salaries, with the major league clubs paying part of it. In other cases the minor league club waived the point and assumed the burden. With new salary limits in force, the minors felt that they could not stand it, and it was at their suggestion that the clause was inserted for 1933. It was done as much for the protection of the minors as for economy in the majors.

FURTHER CATCHING CHANGES are looked for in the American League. The Red Sox, in particular, are likely to have a made-over receiving corps, now that the purchase of Johnny Gooch has been followed by the acquisition of Mervin Shea from Louisville for Albert Van Camp and a cash consideration.

President Bob Quinn admits that it is planned to have a catching staff made up of Shea, Gooch and Smead Jolley, which means that Benny Tate and Eddie Connolly will be shipped elsewhere. The Boston bosses have not given up hope that Jolley will develop into a good catcher. Besides, he can go to the outfield in emergencies, and any player who can knock in 106 runs in a season is an asset.

THERE IS A possibility that Art Shires may move on again, according to some remarks dropped by Bill McKechnie, the Brave manager. Brooklyn reports say the Dodgers turned down an offer of Shires for Shortstop Gorden Slade. McKechnie admits that he did not cease his trading efforts after the acquisition of Frank Hogan, and says that not only Shires, but Pitcher Harry Seibold and Outfielders Fred Leach and Earl Clark may figure in deals before the Braves go South, one dicker being likely to reach the closing point any day. Bill is not sure, either, that Horace Ford will be kept, though admitting the veteran did very well as a utility infielder last season.

Al Spohrer

M'KECHNIE SAYS IT remains to be seen whether Hogan will catch most of the games for the Boston club next season, pointing out that Al Spohrer is a hustling, capable backstop. At that, Bill is counting heavily on Hogan's bat to help put the Braves in the first division.

Hogan has started systematic training in Boston under the direction of a professional conditioner. He is playing Badminton and pulling at the rowing machine. Frank weighs 244 pounds at present. Usually he has scaled around 260 at reporting time, but will endeavor to get down to 230 before spring practice starts and hopes to be at 220 when the season opens.

HOGAN PREDICTS THAT Freddie Lindstrom, with whom he played five years in New York will do big things for the Pirates. "Lindstrom always hit well in the Pittsburgh ball park and I feel he will have a great season out there," he said.

"And I don't want to hear people say that Lindy laid down on Bill Terry. It isn't true. There never was any hard feeling between them. In the second half of last season Lindy hit a lot of balls hard to the outfield, but they did not go safe. Then he did what many others done. He tried too hard and never got started again."

BEN O'SICKEY, who appeared in ice skating races with Bobby McLean at Duquesne Garden recently, is 36 and has been in competition for 24 years, but has no thought of retiring. When he does quit, he hopes to keep the family name prominent in racing circles for a long time afterward, as he is grooming his 11-year-old son, Larry, to take his place. The boy shows a lot of promise and won the praises of the experts by an excellent showing in exhibition races at the winter Olympics early last year at Lake Placid, N. Y.

THE ELDER O'SICKEY is a capable coach. For two years prior to the 1932 Olympic events he coached and trained Jack Shea, and the latter won the 500 and 1,500-meter titles, being the only American expect Irv Jaffee to capture a skating championship.

Ben did his own greatest skating as an amateur right here in Pittsburgh. At Duquesne Garden in 1916 he won the international indoor championship by outscoring the best amateurs in the game in seven events. And in winning the half-mile race at that time he set a world amateur indoor record of 1 minutes, 15 3-5 seconds, which still stands after 17 years.

THOUGH HE WAS out cold at the conclusion of his own 10-round bout with Max Baer in Chicago last fall, Ernie Schaaf does not believe Baer has a chance to defeat Max Schmeling in the fight scheduled for June.

However, Schaaf advises the German to keep his chin guarded. He says Baer is "just a tough fellow with a sock," though the average ring follower is inclined to believe that any fighter possessing those two qualifications is not to be taken lightly.

Ernie Schaaf

SCHAAF THINKS HIS recent feat of knocking out Unknown Winston and Stanley Poreda proves he was not right when those two men defeated him last year. "My last fight with Baer taught me a good lesson," he said. "Until then I believed myself so rugged and strong that nobody could hurt me. My mind wasn't on boxing at the time, nor was I putting too much into my work. I was stale, too. It was a case of too many fights, too much time in gymnasiums. I required a rest and I have pulled myself together since I took it. The Winston fights illustrate the condition I was in. He had no right to win a decision over me. I had him [illegible] while I was [illegible] by a bad hand, and when [illegible] it recently, and the [illegible] Poreda, I convinced myself I was on the right track." [illegible]

COMISH BIDS FOR DEMPSEY PROMOTION

The present limit is 10 rounds. A similar measure was passed by the 1931 legislature, but vetoed by Gov. Pinchot.

NEW REVENUE SOUGHT

The move today is seen as a direct attempt to land the Max Schmeling vs. Max Baer fight being promoted by Jack Dempsey. Dempsey met with members of the commission here today to discuss their invitation to stage the bout in Philadelphia next summer. He told them he could not entertain the proposition unless a bout of 15 rounds were permitted.

The commission is sadly in need of new revenue, and it is felt Dempsey's bout is the immediate answer to its requirements. Barely able to make its income meet its expenses, the commission is under fire from government economy champions.

In the wake of a bill by Representative Elwood J. Turner, of Delaware, to abolish the commission, Gov. Pinchot revealed in his budget the narrow margin between profit and loss in state regulation of boxing and wrestling.

DEFICIT AVERTED

By reducing its operating costs, the budget showed the commission was able to finish the present biennium with a net profit of $11,000. A slash of $15,000 by the 1932 special session brought the expenses to $115,000 and eliminated an impending deficit of $4,000 under the original appropriation of $130,000.

The receipts from licenses and gross receipts tax for 1931-33 are estimated at $126,015, a new low.

Favorites came through their second tests in the W. P. I. A. L. championship basketball race with colors flying, but the highly regarded did not fare so well in the confines of the City League.

In yesterday's City circuit battles, Connelley, in Section I, and Langley, in Section II, stole the show. The Connelley Traders upset the dope by beating Westinghouse on the Silver Lakers' own floor, 26 to 25, a field goal in the dying moments of the game by Eddie Strolowski deciding the issue. Connelley now is tied with South for first place.

In other Section I contests, Schenley sank Peabody, 30 to 22 and South continued its victory string at the expense of First Avenue, winning 34 to 15.

PERRY WINS ANOTHER

Perry made it two in a row in Section II by beating Allegheny Vocational, with ease, 34 to 11, but Oliver, making its initial start, lost to Langley, 24 to 20. Allegheny toppled South Hills, 22 to 18, to complete the City League schedule.

In the W. P. I. A. L. the Scott High of North Braddock quintet, one of the favorites to dethrone Braddock as champion, downed Swissvale, 29 to 17. Ferguson's 14 points were too much for Swissvale. In other league contests, Har-Brack defeated Arnold, 36-23; Crafton took over Coraopolis, 16-13; Scottdale trimmed Hurst, 14-11; Charleroi won over Brownsville, 22-12; Monessen defeated North Union, 23 to 18; Georges won from Redstone, 38-8; Bellevue tripped Leetsdale, 22-11; Avalon defeated Etna, 28-17, and Rankin dropped Wilkinsburg, 25-18.

HOMESTEAD BOWS

Favorites also came through generally in non-league affairs, although Taylor Allderdice, of the City League, put over a surprise by defeating Homestead, 28 to 27. Braddock won from Munhall, 34 to 22; Ambridge won over Stowe, 37 to 19; Uniontown walloped Washington, 29 to 9; Trinity beat East Washington, 31 to 24; Canonsburg downed McDonald, 27 to 14, and Monaca whipped its old rival, Rochester, 15 to 13.

GIANTS SWING DEAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The New York Giants swung a big deal in rookie baseball by taking the contracts of eight players from the Winston-Salem club of the Piedmont League. The Giants operated this club as a part of their "farm" system last year and probably will continue to do so this season. At the same time Johnny Fisher, an infield recruit from Fordham University, was released unconditionally.

PROTEST FILED BY MOON RUN

By TOM BIRKS

The Moon Run Soccer Club, of the Panhandle League, officially has protested the National Amateur Cup game with Gallatin played last Sunday, it was learned today.

The officials of the club charged intimidation of the players and referee. The protest claimed that the crowd surged on the field numerous times, interfering with the playing of the game.

Just how the committee will take the intimidation charge remains to be seen, but it is possible that the report of Delegate Bill Rehman will be awaited.

The Western Pennsylvania Soccer Commission, in session last evening, instructed Secretary Sam Park to notify the managers of Houston and Atlasburg teams to appear before the committee next Tuesday, when the rioting at Atlasburg Sunday will be probed. Until last evening the committee had only the report carried in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to govern its action.

Little other business was transacted. The suspension of the J. J. Verona club was lifted pending the paying of a referee's fee, but the club will not be allowed to stage any more games at Washington Park.

Polo Association To Rate Locals

The handicap ratings for members of the Pittsburgh Polo and Riding Club, recently admitted to membership in the U. S. Polo Association, will come up for consideration at the annual meeting of the association in New York today.

SPORT VIGNETTES

A lot of folks will be going out to the Stadium Pavilion Friday night under the impression that they are to witness a basketball game between the Pitt and Duquesne University teams . . . What really will be going on will be a test between the Doc Carlson theory of ice cream feeding for basketball players and the Chick Davies system of sucking oranges between halves . . . Max Hannum, the Carnegie Tech coach, hopes to carry off the city championship by introducing a lemonade-drinking-without-a-straw fad for his players.

Freddie Mastrean

Having been thoroughly shellacked by Jack Sharkey, Primo Carnera now is matched to box Ernie Schaaf, Sharkey's stablemate, for the right to fight Sharkey for the title . . . What a lot of brain-cudgeling it must have taken for the matchmaker to think up that one . . . At that, the promoters are liable to offer the public a logical pairing one of these days, and everybody will steer clear of it, wondering what's wrong with it.

Gene Sarazen urges bigger cups to open up the golf game and give it a new thrill . . . A splendid idea, if you ask us . . . Only why go halfway about making any changes? . . . Why not make the distance from tee to green shorter, attach a string to the ball so it can't be lost and put a magnet in the cup to draw the ball on any sort of a putt?

You could carry the same idea into other sports . . . In basketball, for instance, have a basket on each side and in each corner, in addition to the one at each end of the court . . . In baseball, make the ball larger and make the pitcher throw it in from right field . . . In boxing, let the boys fight from their corners to save them the trouble of advancing to midring . . . In wrestling, eliminate the holds and merely retain the hippodroming . . . In tennis, machine-gun all sideline judges who call "outs," and, in croquet—well, you write your own ticket for that one.

Freddie Mastrean, former local amateur boxer, who last summer was the matchmaker for the bouts staged at the St. Peter's A. A. arena on the North Side, has obtained a license to referee amateur bouts and will make his bow shortly . . . He ought to make the grade and be up there soon with the professional referees, for he was an intelligent boxer and matchmaker and has worked well as a judge at amateur shows . . . He has not boxed for several years, but was one of the best 150-pounders of his time, a protege of the clever Jack Barry at the Pittsburgh Lyceum.

Universal Service.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Firing on official targets will soon start throughout the country in the hundreds of educational institutions from which cadet teams have entered the 1932-33 William Randolph Hearst national rifle trophy matches.

By April 1, new national and section champions will be crowned in the greatest inter-school competition ever conducted in this country.

Two hundred twenty-seven educational institutions in the United States, Hawaii and Porto Rico, out of 298 maintaining R. O. T. C. units, have already entered 450 teams in the matches. Additional entries are being received daily.

Senior R. O. T. C. units in colleges and universities compete against each other for national and sectional championships, while military academies and junior units in high schools are each pitted against their own kind for similar honors. There is a national championship team and four sectional champions in each group.

Rooneys Play Akron In Benefit Game

The J. P. Rooney basketball team, of the North Side, and the crack Akron Goodyears, of Akron, O., will clash tonight in the Duquesne University gymnasium in a benefit game, the proceeds to go to the St. Vincent DePaul Society of St. Peter's Church, North Side.

Two preliminary contests also are on the card. In the first, the Olympic Club will engage the Wright Senators and in the second, the Frank Ferris passers will tackle the Doc Gannons. The first game will get under way at 7 o'clock.

SMITH SHINES AS TARTANS BEAT OWLS

By JESS CARVER

Either Pitt or Carnegie Tech is going to take a commanding lead in the Eastern Intercollegiate Conference basketball race about next Wednesday evening as the old city rivals tie up in the first contest of their annual home-and-home series. Today, the rivals stand tied for the conference lead, with two victories apiece. Tech went into a deadlock with the Panthers by beating Temple last night in an extra-period game, 38 to 34, hanging up its second triumph in as many starts for the 1933 campaign.

Maxie Hannum displayed a sound knowledge of substituting as his Tartans nosed out the Owls. His team, with Red Fergus and Lou Jagnow, two of its stellar members, still unable to go at top speed due to knee hurts, was a trifle ragged in spots and not as fast as it should be, or will be when Lou and Red hit their peak, but it had the old cork. The boys had to come from behind twice to overtake the Owls, who played vastly superior basketball to that evidenced against Pitt last Saturday.

SMITH HIGH SCORER

Bob Smith, husky forward star, had himself a large evening. He counted five field goals and as many fouls to lead both teams in the scoring, and two of his goals came at very opportune times.

Tech took an early lead at 4 to 1, but the Owls caught up and the teams battled point for point during the first half, being all even at 16-all at the intermission. A field goal, with less than a minute left to play, but the towering Leibensperger, Temple's 6-foot 6-inch center, deadlocked the first half score.

The Plaid piled itself up another lead in the second half at 23 to 18, but at this point, Temple put on its best scoring front and tallied 10 points before the Techs counted again. The Owls led by 30 to 26 with five minutes left to play, but Jagnow and Smith tied the score and then Smitty put Tech ahead by two points. Len Guud, Temple center, bravely made good on two free throws to send the contest into an extra period.

RED DROPS ONE

The overtime session hardly was under way when George Silverman, diminutive Tartan guard, who packs more color in his slight form than a ribbon counter, threw one from away out to give Tech another edge. This blew up a minute later as Friberg sank one from in close for the Owls, but Eddie Stentz, Tech's big center, jumped the ball in from a scrimmage under the hoop and Jagnow put the icing on the cake with a neat one from the side.

Hannum's handling of his replacements drew the admiration of critics at the court-side.

Red Fergus, brilliant Tech guard, was ejected from a game for the first time in his career on the personal foul route. Red's inability to take off on his injured leg put him a step behind the man he was watching and caused him to foul more often than is his wont.

Cripples On Mend

Two of the three cripples who have been causing so many anxious moments in the Pitt and Duquesne basketball camps as the rivals prepare for their struggle in the Stadium Pavilion Friday night are back in the old harness and figure to be available for duty.

At Duquesne, Coach Charles Robinson Davies was vastly relieved yesterday when Marty Reiter, who'd been confined to his bed with a sore throat, reported for practice. It looks like Marty will start against the Panthers, Skippy Hughes, Pitt's brilliant sophomore forward, who was out of the Temple game with an elbow injury, has been working out with the Panthers this week and he, too, is a good starting bet.

Claire Cribbs, however, the Pitt center, appears to be definitely out of the game with the Dukes and Coach Carlson has shifted his lineup, sending Russ Ochsenhirt, probably the most improved player on the Pitt squad, to center and Charley Hughes in at Russ' guard position.

If Skip Hughes can't play Friday, either Whitey Wilson or Slim Wainio, very likely the latter, will.

DEMPSEY STYLE WELL KNOWN TO MARINE

SYNOPSIS

Col. John S. Phelan finally refuses to issue license to Dempsey and so Richard accepts Sesquicentennial Committee offer to stage the world championship fight at Philadelphia. Both the champion and Tunney go into active training.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

For every hour I gave to studying Tommy Gibbons' style of ring peculiarities, I gave five to the study of Dempsey's. Back in 1921, after the Dempsey-Carpentier fight, I engaged Larry Williams—who had been Dempsey's chief sparring partner — to come up to my camp in Red Bank. I wanted to find out things about Jack Dempsey.

Gene Tunney

"Good, game boy!"

Larry pasted me plenty. In 1925, Larry said:

"He's as hard to hit as Battling Levinsky, and hits faster than Dempsey. In another year he will surely lick the champion."

Whenever I heard of a fellow who had boxed with Dempsey, I tried to engage him as a sparring partner. In this way I got a good deal of information. I had seen the Dempsey fights with Brennan, Carpentier and Firpo, and had studied at length the moving pictures of each. In the Brennan fight, at old Madison Square Garden, though Dempsey showed a lack of skill, he was fast and tireless. He won by sheer stick-to-itiveness. But his lack of boxing skill interested me.

STUDIES DEMPSEY

In the Carpentier fight, when the small Frenchman clouted him on the cheek bone with a long right-hand punch in the second round, he was dazed. He swayed for a moment like a sapling in a stiff wind. I saw that Dempsey was not invincible.

In the Firpo fight, as he rushed out of his corner in the first round with a left hook that started as he left his chair, I saw that in excitement he was an open target. Though the Firpo fight was three years after the Brennan fight, I saw no improvement in his technique. I was convinced that there could be no improvement while he possessed that deadly punch. He was not the kind of fellow, I reasoned, who interested himself in skill. He depended on his wallop. Most all good hitters do!

I believed a skillful man, game, with a fair punch, a capacity to absorb punishment and more than the average endurance, would defeat Dempsey. This was a prejudiced appraisal, of course. I believed what I had to believe. After the Firpo fight, in 1923, I took stock of myself objectively. I decided at that time, that, though I had not all the necessary qualifications, I did have a fair nucleus upon which I could begin to build. Uppermost in my mind was my lack of weight. I weighed 174 pounds. I thought constant application to the kind of bag punching I had devised would give me the necessary punch. Lots of sensible road work would develop endurance, and a chance in diet to include two quarts of milk daily would gradually increase my fighting weight. I decided to give it a trial. Whether I was training for a fight or not, I kept up these things — bag punching, road work and the new diet.

DISCONCERTED BY CRITICS

This new schedule, added to the old one of hand exercises which I had never let a day go by without doing, somewhat filled my time. I made it a rule to be in bed before 10 each night. I gradually increased in weight, endurance and hitting power. I learned a good deal of the importance of timing in hitting from golf and discovered that the secret of timing was to have the punch land on the target at the moment of maximum speed and power. A scientific blow to get the best results should be delivered like the snap of a whip, the blow to land at the end of the snap. I learned that it was easier to score a knockout with a jolting punch than with a heavy swinging blow. When my training started for the Dempsey contest, I felt that I had the necessary qualifications — skill, speed, punch and endurance. The boxing experts were almost to a man picking me to be knocked out in a round or two. One, a couple of days before the fight said:

"It will last until Dempsey gets from his corner to hit Tunney, who will be too frightened to leave his chair—a matter of some fractions of a second."

VISUALIZES DEFEAT

I was always curious to read what the experts had to say about the fight I was going to engage in and had the habit of reading all the newspapers. One night while lying in the cabin that had been built on the edge of Lake Pleasant, so that I could be alone and away from the noise of the camp, I began thinking of the fight.

The prediction of the experts became vivid. What if I should be knocked out? Suppose these fellows were right? They cannot all be fools. What if I should be slaughtered?

A Foot of Grief for Pitt Passers

Knocked out! What did it mean? I had never even been knocked down. What did a knockdown feel like? How would it feel?

I saw myself down—dazed—getting to one knee—rising at the count of nine—my nose broken and bleeding—mouth open, eyes glassy, the ring whirling. I could see Dempsey, the killer, stepping out from behind the referee with another murderous punch—or two. Down again—this time on my face, the crowd on the backs of the seats cheering and shouting, the women screaming, my friends saddened.

CONQUERS FEAR

Suddenly the bed was shaking. The picture had me trembling. Something was wrong. Something was very wrong. This must stop. . . . If it doesn't you'll be defeated before entering the ring! I said:

"Tunney are you going to let this opportunity for which you have worked seven years be lost because you're yellow? Because on the eve of the great event you haven't the 'guts' to see it through? Is that the kind of a coward you are? No! No! No! Well, this sort of thing must not happen again. Don't ever even think of such a thing again. Suppose you're killed. What of it? What does death matter! There are worse possibilities."

Presently, as the water gently lapped along the shore, I fell off the brink of consciousness. Sleep.

I read no more newspapers. I gradually developed a mental fortification that brought me into the ring smiling and serene.

Tomorrow, Tunney gives his impressions of training at Stroudsburg, Pa., for the first Dempsey battle . . . "there was much disloyalty and dissension among the members of my camp." He will describe also his airplane trip to the scene of the fight and a bitter clash with Billy Gibson.

Loughran Wins Over King Levinsky

With a barrage of smashing left hooks, Unknown Winston, of Hartford, Conn., battered Jim Darcy, Los Angeles heavyweight, to the canvas three times in the first round to win by a knockout in one minute and three seconds in the scheduled eight-round semi-windup.

Fight Results

Pitt Stars to Tell Fans About Rose Bowl Game

Warren Heller. Paul Cuba. Bill Kern. Joe Skladany.

Three of the Pitt football players who starred against Southern California in the Tournament of Roses game on New Years Day and Bill Kern, assistant coach and scout and former Pitt tackle, will be guest speakers on the weekly radio program of the Trained Seals of the Sports Department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph tonight to give the fans their impressions of the battle.

It will be no alibi fest. The players will not be "explaining" their surprising 35-0 defeat by the Trojans. On the contrary, they will be merely answering the questions the shocked fans themselves have been asking since the game.

There'll be Warren Heller, all-America halfback and acting-captain; Joe Skladany, star end, and Paul Cuba, the husky tackle, besides Kern. Harry Keck, sports editor, will quiz the quartet, with the program getting under way at 7 o'clock.

COLLEGES CUT PAY, CARDS

ITHACA, N. Y., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—For reasons of economy, Cornell University has canceled its entire winter and spring intercollegiate sports program with the single exception of basketball.

This drastic action, taken by athletic council last night, carries with it abandonment of all schedules, varsity and freshman, in crew, wrestling, ice hockey, fencing, indoor and outdoor track, baseball and lacrosse, and means that Cornell will not be represented in the Intercollegiate Rowing Association's annual regatta at Poughkeepsie nor in championships in any other sport for the rest of the school term.

Abandonment of the winter and spring sports schedules will have no effect upon the coaching staffs, members of which will be available to athletes for training and instruction, although facilities will be greatly curtailed.

The council also laid the groundwork for further economies in athletic operations, announcing a three-point program to be put into effect later. The program included:

SLASHES ON COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Drastic curtailment of athletics and reduction of salaries of all athletic employes were measures proposed to alleviate the financial ills of two major universities of the Far West, California and Stanford.

California's Associated Students' Finance Committee, which pulls the purse strings on all athletic activities at the state institution, drew up a list of recommendations, which include:

Ten per cent reduction in salaries of employes and voluntary reduction for those under contract.

Under the new arrangement, Claude (Tiny) Thornhill, new coach at Stanford, will receive a 10 per cent cut in his present capacity as assistant coach. Then he will get a raise as the successor to Pop Warner as head coach, and this salary in turn also will be sliced 10 per cent.

Goodwin Victor In 20-Hole Match

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—A spectacular victory in 20 holes kept Tommy Goodwin, of Monroe, N. Y., in the running today for a second championship of the annual Miami-Biltmore invitation tournament.

While Goodwin went ahead, Celest Durand, Jr., of Brooklyn, his opponent in many a battle on the links, stood on the sidelines. Durand bowed to young Garfield Miller, Jr., of Miami, in a spectacular 20-hole match.

Six amateur bouts will be staged by the Shrine Auto Club in Syria Mosque tonight.

Red Bruce, Negro middleweight, of the Hill, will box Johnny Riske in the second six-round bout at Motor Square Garden Monday night. An opponent is being sought for either the Alabama Kid or Mose Butch in the eight-round semi-final.

STOCKS CLIMB IN ACTIVE TRADING

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The stock market continued to work upward today, reaching its highest levels since mid-November, although gains were moderate and several leading shares turned reactionary under weight of scattered selling.

Activity continued to be dominated largely by professionals, but some wire houses reported a broader public demand. Earlier trading was considerably more animated than yesterday. Rails, as a group, appeared more popular than utilities and industrials, although motor stocks moved forward fractionally in fairly heavy turnover.

Reports of freight loadings for last week by individual roads showed a seasonal gain following the year-end holiday period.

Regular quarterly dividends were declared by Woolworth and Continental Can. Westinghouse Electric announced a distribution of its holdings of Radio Corporation stock on the basis of one-half share of Radio stock for every one share of both Westinghouse preferred and common. Trade news, other than routine reports, was scanty. Foreign copper prices firmed a shade to 5.15 cents a pound against 5.05 to 5.12½ cents on Tuesday.

Speculative attention was focused largely on Washington where the farm allotment bill was under animated discussion, but the primary source from which the market appeared to draw buying support was its own action in the recent past when prices refused to go far downward despite occasional selling sorties.

COTTON SLIDES ON SELLING

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Cotton futures opened steady, ¼ lower in response to disappointing Liverpool cables and under moderate Southern selling. March, 6.34; May, 6.47; July, 6.59; October, 6.78; December, 6.88.

Realizing and some selling was reported through houses with continental connections, but after easing to 6.28c for March and 6.52c for May, or about 7 to 9 points net lower, prices steadied on continued trade buying combined with a scattering commission house demand, partly from Wall street and western sources. Prices were a point or two up from the lowest at the end of the first half hour.

The market stiffened after the early offerings had been absorbed on continued trade buying and some increase of commission house or Wall street demand influenced by the action of the wheat and stock markets. Early losses were just about recovered and the midday market was within a point or two of yesterday's close. March advanced to 6.35, or within 2 points of Tuesday's high.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 11.—Cotton, 5,000 bales, American nil. Spot in better demand, improved business; prices seven points higher; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 6.02; good middling, 5.72; strict middling, 5.47; middling, 5.32; strict low middling, 5.17; low middling, 5.02; strict good middling, 4.82; good ordinary, 4.52. Futures closed quiet and steady. January, 5.06; March, 5.08; May, 5.11; July, 5.14; October, 5.18; December, 5.22.

DUPONT, KODAK DENY MERGER

NEW YORK, July 11.—(INS.)—Stocks of the Eastman Kodak Company and the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company were active today on published reports the two corporations were negotiating a 750 million dollar merger.

The report, however, was denied by William G. Stuber, head of the Eastman company, and interests at Wilmington, Del., close to the du Ponts.

In Wall street, it was believed legal difficulties as well as the present anti-trust laws, would bar such a step at this time.

However, reports have been current for some time in the financial district of a possible working arrangement or consolidation of the Eastman and du Pont Cellophane divisions.

Should the consolidation be effected, du Pont would probably get the lion's share of the business of supplying film, cameras, projecting machines and other instruments to the motion picture industry. Film is now made by du Pont, but the Eastman firm has been the big factor in that field.

Prominent Men Believe That Worst Is Past

—By B. C. FORBES—

IS THIS how it goes, "The reason why I cannot tell, I do not love you, Dr. Fell?"

Nearly every important man of affairs is today taking a more hopeful view. Some of them can't logically explain just why they find apprehension leaving them and optimism taking possession of them. But they unhesitatingly tell you that the worst is past and that we are definitely approaching better times.

Mr. Forbes

For example, time and time again I asked Albert H. Wiggin, head of America's largest bank, to give me his views for publication in this column. But he didn't feel warranted in talking encouragingly and, therefore, preferred to remain silent.

Now he feels justified in coming forward with an expression of confidence that recovery is coming. His case is typical of many other men of far-reaching influence.

THE ACTION of the security markets has, in some measure, reflected this cheerier attitude. Not only have stocks followed an upward course since the turn of the year, but bonds have acted even more encouragingly.

"FOR THE first time since 1928 I am dodging dealers."

That's what H. J. Klingler, general sales manager of the world's best-selling automobile told me yesterday. He explained:

"During the three weeks following the announcement of our new Chevrolet on December 17, we have had more people visit our show-rooms than during any similar period since 1929. More important: We have received more orders than at any time since 1929. We are delivering cars as fast as we can get them from the factory.

"While, of course, none of us can tell what may or may not happen by and by, the fact is that thus far the demand for our new models has been tremendous.

"Orders have come not only from individuals, but from many large fleet users. I don't know whether this is because they have more confidence in the business outlook or because their old stuff has worn out."

Other inspiring facts mentioned by Mr. Klingler:

"We have cultivated dealers just as painstakingly, just as systematically as you would cultivate a field of potatoes. We have selected new dealers with the greatest care; we have devoted more attention than ever before to training, educating, aiding dealers to become good business men; we have co-operated with them in making money just as earnestly as we have tried to make money for our own company. The result is that we finished 1932, actually, with more dealers than we started with.

"We have reduced our used car inventory by more than 50 per cent.

"Whereas we closed 1931 with 33,000 old models on hand, we finished 1932 with practically a clean sheet."

How appreciative dealers are of the way they have been treated was demonstrated the other day when the Atlantic coast region dealers, on their own initiative, organized a dinner at the Waldorf and presented Mr. Klingler with a wonderful testimonial.

THESE FIGURES, showing the registrations of passenger cars by the three leaders during the first 11 months of last year, will interest you: Chevrolet, 314,107; Ford, 246,603; Plymouth, 101,686.

WHILE IT is too early to compute how many orders will be placed during the New York automobile show, heads of various companies tell you they feel gratified over the interest shown in their latest products. The crowds have been especially large around some of the new lowest-priced exhibits, including Continental, Willys, Chevrolet and Plymouth (Ford, as usual, is not exhibiting).

IT'S TOO bad leaders in other industries don't put forth as much effort, energy, originality and courage to stimulate revival of buying.

MAJOR OWNERS TREAT STARS TO RAISES

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Major league baseball magnates definitely are committed to a program of economy but deserving ball players will be rewarded in the usual fashion just the same.

With the possible exception of the St. Louis Cardinals, clubs in both the American and National Leagues already have, or will, boost the salaries of star performers of the 1932 campaign. These increases, however, probably will be more than offset by slashes in the stipends of other players whose work last season was not outstanding.

Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals, already has announced his payroll will be slashed, not trimmed, but even he has given no indication that every player on the roster will be required to take a cut irrespective of 1932 performance.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who shocked not a few baseball sharps by finishing second in the National League race, already have granted increases to Lloyd Waner and Larry French, restored Paul Waner's salary to its 1931 level, and boosted the figures on the checks they'll issue to such youngsters as Earl Grace, Tony Piet, Bill Swift and Floyd Vaughan. Washington, likewise, has been generous in dealing with Monte Weaver, and it was understood the Senators would boost the salaries of both Al Crowder and Goose Goslin, secured from the St. Louis Browns during the off-season.

Col. Jacob Ruppert probably will ask Babe Ruth to accept a cut of $5,000 or $10,000 and some of the other members of the New York Yankees' squad may be slightly hit in the region of their pocketbooks.

All the other clubs likewise are planning on a general scaling-down of the player-payrolls but, at the same time, providing fatter checks for such deserving performers as Johnny Allen, of the Yankees; Lon Warneke, of the Cubs; Dale Alexander, of the Red Sox, and many another.

Aldrich, McCain Take Helm of Chase Bank

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The helm of the $1,856,000,000 Chase National Bank was turned over today from the hands of Albert H. Wiggin to those of two younger executives.

The new navigators are Winthrop W. Aldrich, 47 years old, new chairman of the governing board, and Charles S. McCain, 48, new president. Wiggin, who is retiring as chairman of the governing board, is nearing 65. Aldrich and McCain have been his chief lieutenants.

STEEL OUTPUT UP SLIGHTLY

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Iron Age tomorrow will say:

"The volume of steel business has gained moderately, while ingot production, at an average of 15 per cent for the industry, has made the second consecutive weekly gain, and now stands at two points above the year-end low of 13 per cent in the holiday week. Steel output advanced at about a corresponding rate in the early part of January, 1932, though the operation at this time last year was 25 per cent of capacity.

"Steel consumers are still very cautious, even in the matter of modest replenishment of depleted inventories, but there has been enough new business from the automobile industry, the can manufacturers and builders of refrigerators to give some of the steel companies slightly better schedules than they had in the latter part of December. The influence of orders for automobile steels and tin plate is apparent in the widely divergent activities of various steel producing districts.

"The most disturbing factor in the market is price weakness in sheets, plates and structural shapes. Some grades of sheets are $2 a ton lower, bringing the Iron Age finished steel composite price down to 1.936c a pound, or only slightly above its 1932 low. On the other hand, heavy melting steel scrap is higher at Pittsburgh, and our scrap composite has advanced to $6.83 a ton from $6.75 last week. Pig iron is unchanged at $13.56 a ton.

MARY FAITH

By BEATRICE BURTON

Mary Faith Becomes Worried When She Sees Husband With Another Girl

CHAPTER XXVIII.

The chilly weeks of April passed and May was there with its green banners and its warm sunshine.

Mary Faith bought a little white go-cart and took the baby for long slow rides through Haltnorth Park and down River street to see Mrs. Puckett.

Everything in the River street house was as it always had been.

Mr. McClintock still sat in the parlor all day, smoking cigars and reading endless newspapers and magazines. Agnes, the waitress, was still there to answer the doorbell and exclaim over the beauty of Mary Faith's baby. Nothing was changed except the color of Mrs. Puckett's hair. She had had it dyed a bright red instead of the familiar mahogany-brown.

On her way home Mary Faith would stop in at the Old Home circulating library on Terrace Road opposite the park and pick out two or three books—a detective story for Kim and love stories or "problem" novels for herself and Mrs. Farrell.

The library was at the back of the Old Home Book and Stationery Store where Mary Faith had bought writing paper and magazines ever since she had come to live in the neighborhood years before; and it had always been in charge of a faded blond woman of uncertain age whose name was Miss Mehitabel Mather. A name that for some mysterious reason always made Mary Faith think of New England in the days of witch burning and stocks and pillories.

NEW ATTENDANT

But one Saturday afternoon when she strolled down to the library to return an armful of books and pick out some new ones there was another woman in charge—not a woman really but a very pretty girl with ash-blond hair braided around her head and a pair of very large brown eyes.

"Miss Mather has gone away for a month's vacation, and I'll be here until she comes back," she told Mary Faith. "I'm her niece. My name is Mather, too."

She was very friendly and helpful, and she took down book after book from the shelves for Mary Faith's inspection.

"I can find plenty of books for myself," Mary Faith told her at last. "What I'm hunting for is a good western story or a mystery for my husband. You have so few. I think he's read almost every one you have here."

"How about a good sea story?" asked the girl, handing Mary Faith a dark blue book with the title, "Captain Macedoine's Daughter," on it in large yellow letters.

That night she and Kim went for a drive in the little car and stopped on the way home for a chocolate soda. They sat at the black counter in the drug store, sipping the sweet cold liquid through long straws and smiling at each other in the wide mirror behind the counter.

WATCHES GIRL

Kim had no hat and coat on, and Mary Faith thought she never had seen him look so well as he did that night, with his hair rumpled by the wind and the collar of his shirt open, showing a triangle of skin that was several shades lighter than his ruddy sunburned face.

In the mirror she saw him turn his head and look at someone who had just come into the store—a tall, slender girl with ash-blond hair braided around her head.

Her eyes followed her as she walked to the back of the store and went into the telephone booth. Not until the door had closed behind her did he take them from her. There was an intent, eager look in them.

"Good-looking girl," he said briefly, setting his empty glass down upon the counter.

"Yes, I know her," asnwered Mary Faith. "She works in the circulating library in the bookstore — she's Miss Mather's niece. Kim, I don't understand you. I know you love me, but you're always picking out pretty girls and looking them over. Are all men like that?—I never think of noticing a man. I never really see any man in the world but you."

WASH OUT YOUR K-I-D-N-E-Y-S— SLEEP FINE

No More Getting Up Nights

So you feel achy all over, miserable and blue? Your head feels "crowded" your nerves quiver, you have pin-and-needle cramps—your appetite has gone and you feel weak as a cat. Don't fill your stomach with tonics or laxatives or rheumatism remedies. How can they help if it is your kidneys.

The job of the kidneys is to strain the uric acid and other poisons out of your blood. They purify your blood, that's it. Now you must not let these acids stay in the kidneys or they'll get back in the blood and poison your whole body. That's why your kidneys must pass 3 pints of "water" a day. Let them fail and you know it. Your appetite goes back on you, so does your pep, your sleep, and your nerves—your back hurts, your ankles and feet may swell up and you feel cranky and sick.

Now see what a wonderful change takes place after you start on Foley Pills. Kidney action increases at once. Out go those acids. Burning stops. Sleep is sounder, and none of this getting up business. You feel like "somebody."

Your druggist has Foley Pills. Sells a lot of them, because most people know how good they are. Don't cost much either—but they certainly do a grand job. If they don't, your money back any time you want it. © 1933

Synopsis

Mary Faith, secretary to Mark Nesbit, wealthy businessman, gives up her position to marry Kimberley Farrell, shiftless young lawyer. She realizes he has an eye for every girl, but hopes that married life will sober him and make him successful in his profession. Instead, Kim is annoyed at Mary Faith's "Puritanism," and his friends, Claire and Jack Maldon, find her a dull companion. Learning that she is to become a mother, Mary Faith, for the first time, visits Kim's office. Kim is furious when Mary Faith finds him flirting with his blonde secretary. That night he informs his mother and Mary Faith that he is leaving. Heartbroken, Mary Faith decides not to tell him of her approaching motherhood. She gets a temporary job as a stenographer. Kim returns after a son is born. Kim has his old job again and the family is happy for months.

Now Go On

"Don't you?" His engaging grin flashed out at her, and he patted her hand as it lay on the counter. "Then you're a good girl, and I'm for you."

And that was the only answer she got to her question.

TAKES BABY OUT

It was half past four on Monday afternoon before she started out to take the baby for his afternoon stroll. Haltnorth Park was cool and green, and an old gardener was watering the grass near Mary Faith's favorite bench in the lilac walk.

The baby, rose-pink and bright-eyed from his afternoon nap, sat up against the little pillows of his cart and played with a blue-and-white rattle that Jean Bartlett had sent him. He made small bubbling noises with his little round O of a mouth, and Mary Faith watched him in great contentment from her seat on the bench.

She had brought four pairs of Kim's socks and some darning cotton and a needle with her, and by the time she had mended them it was half past five and the factory whistles were blowing in the distance.

"Time to start home, my small sweet man," she said to the baby, rolling the last pair of socks into a ball and dropping them into her mending bag. "Time to go home and put the baby in the bed—time to get daddy his supper—"

She pushed the car along the shady gravel walk, talking as she went. Beyond the green spaces of the park passing automobiles flashed in the sunshine of Terrace road. The windows of the Old Home Book and Stationery Store were like fire and the gilded dome of the church next door to it was as bright as the setting sun.

SEES KIM WITH GIRL

Mary Faith crossed Terrace road directly in front of the bookstore, and just as she reached the curb she saw Kim standing in the doorway. He was not alone. Miss Mather's niece was beside him, and as Mary Faith looked at them they started along the sidewalk. They paused for a moment before the drugstore. Then they turned and went into it.

It was 20 minutes after 6 when he came home.

Mary Faith heard him when he came in. She heard him say hello to his mother. She heard him say, "Where's Mary Faith?"

Then he came out into the kitchen where she was cutting up a fresh pineapple for dessert.

"What's the matter?" he asked. He knew that something was the matter the minute he looked at her.

She always came to meet him at night. Almost always she had his slippers ready for him and the brown linen house coat that he wore on these hot summer evenings.

But tonight she didn't take a step in his direction. She stood at the table looking at him. There was a little thoughtful frown between her eyes, as if she were trying to figure him out.

"Kim," she said, "you certainly are a fast worker."

"Why?" he asked. He took off his straw hat and she noticed, without knowing that she was looking at it, the dark ring that it left on his fair hair.

"On Saturday night you saw that girl in the drug store," she told him. "And I—like the fool I am—told you who she was and where you could find her. And it didn't take you very long to do it, did it?"

STOPPED FOR BOOK

Kim looked Mary Faith straight in the eye and answered her. "I don't know what you're talking about," he said. And he said it in such a puzzled way that she almost believed it for a second.

"I'll tell you what I'm talking about then, Kim. I just saw you with that Mather girl. I saw you come out of the bookstore with her and I saw you walk up the street with her and go into Wanger's drug store."

"Kim," she said, "you certainly are a fast worker."

"Well, what if you did see me? There's nothing disgraceful about what I did, is there? —That girl had been helping me pick out a couple of books for fully a half hour. I took that sea story down to the office with me this morning and on my way home I stopped in at the library to get something else to read. Miss Mather was leaving just as I was leaving—at half past five. I asked her if she wouldn't like to go into the drug store and have something cold to drink and she said she would. Now, that was a great scandal, wasn't it? For me to buy a girl a glass of root beer?"

He came up to her.

"You understand how it happened now, don't you?" he asked. "There was nothing to it, Mary Faith."

He took her by both hands, holding her away from him a little so that he could look down at her.

"You understand it now, don't you, you jealous little gadget?"

Mary Faith slowly nodded her head. She wanted to understand it. She wanted so desperately to know that nothing was wrong. That Kim had no interest in that girl.

"Of course I do, Kim," she said. "But I'm terribly jealous, Kim. I just can't bear to have you look at anybody but me. I wish you would wear blinders, like a horse, so that you couldn't see anybody else—"

"Kim, if you ever go away from me again!—If you ever do—"

He took his hands from her shoulders and backed away from her. "You silly child," he said. "Aren't you ashamed of getting yourself all steamed up about a girl that doesn't mean anything to me? A girl that I hardly know?"

She nodded. But just the same she was glad and relieved when the first of August brought Miss Mather back to the library and took the pretty niece away.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

By ANN HELFGOTT
"Official Reporter," Sheridan Square Chapter

Hello members!

Did you enjoy the big vaudeville acts at our Junior Komic Club meeting Saturday? You did! So did I, but wait until you hear what we have in store for you this week.

Now boys and girls, meet some more of the members of the Sheridan Square Chapter (remember last week you met several).

Here comes a little girl with long, black curls and wearing a checked blouse. I wonder who she is? Why, it's Mary Powers. Mary tells me that she is fascinated with a typewriter and when she finishes high school she is going to be a typist. Good for you, Mary. A couple of weeks ago in Bob Ripley's cartoon, "Believe It Or Not," which appears every day in the Sun-Telegraph, he said that a typist does the same amount of work in a day that a man does when he loads a ton of coal into a truck. So when you start typing show them that you can do as much as two men.

Here comes a little girl whose ambition is already known to me. When she grows up she wants to be a nature study teacher. Little Jilda Aloe takes great interest in the work of nature.

Now look who's here. Cute Patsy Cunningham, wearing a large orange ribbon in her hair. Patsy has one ambition. It's to be the first member present at the meetings of the Junior Komic Club each week. So far her record is 100 per cent.

With Patsy is her cousin, Lorraine Cunningham, who wants to be a doctor. She has been practising on her dolls and today she has several of the members saying "aah."

Here comes a little fellow rolling up to my typewriter in his coaster wagon. He is Irving Shanschuck. Yes sir, Irving's hobby is to go to the store for his mother in this same wagon. Well, I know Irving carries out our pledge of "Obedience to my parents." In fact, I'm sure all the members do.

And last, but not the least, is little 4-year-old Sema Moskavitz. Sema is all dressed up in one of those new Clark Gable sweaters. She whispers to me that she is going to be a magician so that she can have everything she wants. Smart girl, Sema.

Remember boys and girls, this Saturday we are going to have at the Junior Komic Club meeting of the Sheridan Square Theater a "Punch and Judy" show as the special attraction. There will be several games for the boys and girls to participate in with prizes for the most proficient.

What the Future Holds

There will be cornerstones to be dedicated, boats to be launched, Boy Scouts to be amused and distinguished visitors to be autographed.

The premier social obligation will be throwing out the first ball of the baseball season in April. Followed by a few weeks of tea drinking with elbows akimbo. Better brush up on your small talk for these sugar cookie tournaments. Practice up on your Indian rubber smile and you'll hear more queer chattering than a clerk in a bird store.

May ain't a bad month. You'll have plenty of visitors, but you can open the windows. In June the delegations arrive from the sticks and the railroads bring thousands of excursionists who think the presidential hand is the old town pump.

Vacation time is nice for Congress has adjourned. You can seek solitude in the hills with a dozen secret service men at your beck and call. They average about six to the beck.

Coming back into Autumn we run into Congress again which has just stocked up on a new load of hopes and fears. The Republican politicians will start discovering something seriously wrong with your administration. The most atrocious flaw being that it ain't Republican.

Some of your plans will go all right and some of your blueprints will develop architectural colic. And just as the reformers are howling at the age of the national woods an overlooked Hoover commission of 1928 will come back to civilization and report progress. They'll be late, but true to their trust. They were ordered to go as far as a congressional appropriation would take them.

There will be factional pulling and tugging through the early winter and Congress will take its Christmas holidays. A staunch G.O.P. newspaper will claim that three Democratic senators franked themselves home in their laundry bags and came back to Washington again as government business.

A non-partisan investigation will prove the allegation to be malicious and untrue. It was only two. And one was a representative. But all that's a chunk of the game and by March you will have completed one year in the White House and have done very well if you don't read the Republican newspapers.

We would be remiss in our responsibility, indeed, if we held back the above cartoon from our readers, who, we are sorry to say, often seem bewildered by world affairs and moral issues. The cartoon, at a glance, sums up the international situation, issues a timely warning against the open saloon, sounds a ringing plea for tolerance, and at the same time plays the forces of evil with righteous indignation. Subscribers may frame this cartoon and like it. Others will not.

Ineffective Tariff Is Dooming Our Industries—Congress Must Act!

FROM the date of Washington's inauguration as its first President, the United States has had a protective tariff.

The policy of the country has been to protect its fields, its farmers, its industries, its labor.

Such protection has not been designed to rigorously bar commerce with other nations, nor to operate to their disadvantage.

Great wealth has been extracted from our soil and from our mines by foreigners. Foreign capital has participated with immense profit in every phase of our growth. Our gateways have been open to the millions of all lands. They have found here the freedom, opportunity and progress for which they yearned.

Protection has not been a policy of adamant exclusion. The strength which it brought to the United States has been shared generously with all nations. Our stability has more than once proved a pillar of support for the stability of the world.

☆ ☆ ☆

BUT, a protective tariff is as essential to the home market of a nation as a door is to the home life of a family.

A home cannot be built in an unenclosed area, without some barrier to regulate admittance.

Neither can a home market for a nation's labor and its products be developed without something tantamount to enclosure to protect it from invasion and to assure its sane regulations.

A door however is of little value unless it opens and shuts at the behest of the man on the INSIDE rather than the man on the OUTSIDE.

By the same token, the test of our tariff is whether the entry of foreign goods is DETERMINED BY US OR BY THEIR ALIEN PRODUCERS.

That it is, as a matter of fact, determined today NOT BY US, but by the FOREIGN MANUFACTURER, backed by his DEPRECIATED CURRENCY and LOW WAGE SCALE, is alarmingly manifest from figures recently published by the Treasury Department, showing the enormous increase in exports to the United States during the current year from the depreciated-currency countries.

THE list of such increases is too long to admit of more than a selection of instances made at random.

From Sweden, for instance, the increase in the exportation to this country of wrapping paper amounts this year to six hundred and fifteen per cent. Our imports of Swedish pig iron have increased one hundred and eighty-one per cent.

Norway's exports of hides have increased over a like period in 1931 to the extent of two hundred and twenty-five per cent.

Our importations from Denmark of calf and kid leather have increased one hundred and forty-one per cent.

From Great Britain our imports of various commodities such as leather, bleached cotton cloth, handkerchiefs, cotton goods, linen sheets and towels, woolen yarns and leather belting, show increases ranging from one hundred and five per cent to two hundred and twenty-one per cent. Pig iron shows, in the nine-month period of 1932 as compared with the same period of 1931, THE AMAZING INCREASE of SIX HUNDRED AND ELEVEN PER CENT.

☆ ☆ ☆

OUR Southern cotton growers are particularly hard hit by the increase in the imports of raw cotton from the British Empire.

Such imports of dutiable cotton have increased to the extent of one thousand two hundred and eighty-three per cent, the increase varying slightly according to the grade of the cotton. The actual increase is perhaps best shown by stating it in pounds. In 1931 we took only 371,742 pounds of raw cotton. For the same period in 1932 we imported 4,565,391 pounds.

Footwear, packed fish, canned foods, pearl buttons—show increases in exports to this country ranging from one hundred and thirty per cent to five hundred and fifty-eight per cent.

The INVASION OF OUR HOME MARKET IS COMPLETE. AT EVERY POINT OUR TARIFF BARRIERS ARE CROSSED AT WILL.

IN every field of production the clamor rises for relief. From every section of the country come reports of increasing unemployment—of industries threatened with annihilation.

WHAT IS CONGRESS GOING TO DO?

The problem is not difficult nor involved. The remedy is plain and within easy reach. The menace to the country is obvious.

The measures necessary to be taken are simple and have been pointed out. Delay is without excuse.

LET CONGRESS ACT! ACT! AND ACT NOW!

NO DUTY RESTING UPON CONGRESS IS SO CLEAR OR SO IMPERATIVE!

The State Budget Slash

Gov. Pinchot Has Met the Legislature More Than Half Way in the Movement for Economy.

With characteristic boldness Gov. Gifford Pinchot has undertaken to relieve the taxpayers of part of their burden. He has submitted to the Legislature a budget calling for appropriations of $158,000,000 from the General Fund during the next two years as against an original budget of $192,000,000 for the present biennium—a cut of $34,000,000.

The Governor deserves praise. Naturally a cut of $34,000,000 makes it necessary to dispense with certain services that everyone would like to retain if the Commonwealth's financial condition permitted. But its condition does not permit their retention.

The Governor's aim has been by economy and good management to make up for the slump in revenues without imposing new taxes, to provide unemployment relief without new taxes, and not only to avoid new taxes but actually to give relief to payers of taxes on real estate, particularly home owners and farmers, by reducing the taxes they are paying now.

There are some parts of Gov. Pinchot's program that the Legislature will question. It remains to be seen if the Governor's critics can offer any better suggestions.

All factions and parties in the General Assembly are pledged to economy. Gov. Pinchot has met them more than half way. He has balanced the budget by making huge cuts in the executive department of the state government. Happily he has found it possible to do this without reducing the subsidies to schools, hospitals and welfare organizations too much.

It is now up to the Legislature and the Judiciary to accept lowered appropriations.

American Goods Better

The Glass and Pottery Show Calls Attention to the Desirability of Buying Home Products.

Mrs. Bellamy Storer and some of her women friends visited the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia in 1876. As they passed through the pottery exhibit they were impressed by the inferiority of some of the American ceramic ware in comparison with foreign ware. To raise the quality of American ware they founded the Rookwood Pottery in Cincinnati.

That was more than a half century ago. Today American pottery holds its own in competition with the world. Indeed, Penelope Redd, the Sun-Telegraph's art critic, reports after a visit to the annual exhibitions of the Associated Glass and Pottery Manufacturers at the Fort Pitt and William Penn hotels that "American designers have not lagged in style and American scientists have perfected everyday decorative objects of a quality unrivaled by importations."

Pittsburghers have an especially strong motive for buying American glass and pottery in the fact that the glass and pottery industries center in the Pittsburgh district, and the purchase of Pittsburgh products gives employment to Pittsburgh workers, whose wages are spent in Pittsburgh stores.

During the nine months from January to September, inclusive, of last year 38,808,000 pieces of foreign pottery were imported into the United States, and great quantities of glassware in addition.

The money sent abroad for this material might better have been spent for the superior pottery and glass of the Pittsburgh district.

Buy American.

Dope Addicts' New Ruse

Physicians Are Again Shown the Necessity of Caution in Prescribing Narcotics.

Dr. Theodore B. Appel, head of the Pennsylvania Department of Health, reports the detection of a new "dope racket" which is victimizing physicians and druggists in suburban and rural sections of the state.

Opium addicts, finding it more and more difficult to obtain the narcotics they crave in the large cities, have hit upon the ruse of going to small towns and feigning illnesses which are treated with the narcotics.

In many instances, Dr. Appel states, the diseases were imitated with remarkable success, and the impostors obtained prescriptions for narcotics. They followed this up by applying for registration with the bureau of narcotic drug control as legally defined medical addicts. The bureau found on investigation that a conspiracy had been formed to violate the law and that numerous physicians and pharmacists were being duped.

The case is just another illustration of the extreme caution that doctors and druggists must show in prescribing and selling dangerous narcotics. It shows the cunning and persistence of the addicts and purveyors of the accursed dope traffic.

Thawing It Out

(Copyright, 1933.)

In days of old the pump grew cold
And froze amid the night.
The farmer knew a thing or two
And did not quail with fright.
He put the kettle on to boil
And made the pump work smooth as oil.

The business pump is frozen tight
While alien blizzards beat,
But all it needs to set it right
Is good old-fashioned heat.
So BUY AMERICAN today
And melt the foreign frost away.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Over the hills they come, sagging along in single file, moving slowly beneath that vast, sun-bleached sky, over the sparse, scorched grass, with a directness different from their usual dwadling browsing.

THEY'RE AFTER SALT.

That grass, for all its scorched gold, is succulent. Those hills, in spite of their grim contours, afford friendly shelter. And the trickle of water in the creek is enough for the most exacting cow.

But, however soft the bed or nourishing the grass or sweet the water, cows need salt, and they will sicken and die without it. So, somewhere in the hills, the cowboys dump great salt chunks, and when need drives the herd they come sagging over the mesas and plains to lay their tongues against its saving bitterness.

Men are like that, too. The bodies of men must have salt, as well as the bodies of cattle. Men have given their lives, traded their most precious jewels, sold their women, fought bloody wars—to get salt. They might have had other food in abundance—sweet, soft food, juicy meat, spicy savories—but without salt, all that food lost its savor.

MEN'S SPIRITS NEED SALT, TOO—SOME ROUGH CHUNK OF EXPERIENCE, BITTER TO THE MIND, BUT BRACING TO THE SOUL—

A salt lick.

Humiliation is a salt lick.

Competition and criticism are salt licks.

We try to avoid these things, and we do ourselves terrible injury by our cowardice; as deadly injury as though we denied salt to our flesh. Do not try to eliminate grief and pain and difficulty from your life. Face them, rather, and be glad for them—and if they do not fall naturally in your lot, go out and seek them.

If you have not tasted sorrow, go out and help bear the sorrows of others.

If you have never been humiliated, criticized, hustled, take a few chances with yourself and get that way.

And do not flatter yourself that you are doing a favor to others by helping bear their load, or by submitting to their criticism. You are only saving your own life by doing so.

Beware of a life that has no bitterness, no roughness. That life is doomed. It will die of its own softness and sweetness.

Choice

I'd rather see your eyes aglow
With faith and love and gladness,
As once I saw them when the world
Was gay with April madness.
I'd rather see your smiling eyes,
So brave, clear and tender
Than all the gems of all the kings,
Ablaze in regal splendor!

I'd rather hear the voice of you
In happy laughter flowing,
As when I heard it on a day
When April winds were blowing.
I'd rather hear your lilting voice
In madcap laughter ringing
Than cherubim and seraphim

Half a Love

When a woman keeps glancing at her watch all evening, it may be a sign that Santa brought her a brand new watch; but, when a man keeps looking at his watch, it's more apt to be a sign that he has a brand new heart-interest, waiting for him.

* * *

After 49 a man may love—but he does not "fall in love." He may lose his balance, but he seldom loses his head or his sense of self-preservation.

* * *

A man never can understand why the better the alibi, the harder it is to make a woman believe it. But, any woman knows that an innocent man wouldn't take the time to invent a really good excuse.

* * *

The first shock that a college graduate receives is when he discovers that success comes primarily from doing things that you don't WANT to do, at the moment when you are pining to do something else.

Two people in the first glamorous throes of love seem to get a secret thrill out of "pitying" all the rest of the people in the world.

* * *

The feat of a woman's life is to keep the "tie that binds" just elastic enough to permit a man to feel free to roam, and just tight enough to jerk him back to safety at the psychological moment.

* * *

No man ever was such a total wreck, that some woman didn't think he was worth towing to the altar and "salvaging."

A man is always surprised that he never discovered how argumentative a woman was until after he married her; but what girl is going to argue with a man as long as he's telling her how perfectly adorable she is?

Half a love is better than none—indeed, in the opinion of most eligible bachelors, it is better than a whole lot.

Isn't It So?

A woman may be quicker in reaching a decision than a man, but she has the advantage of being able to change her mind if she's wrong.

Text For Today Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.—John, xiv:6.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—For those who have not seen the metropolis for 20 years the most astonishing changes are in 1, 2, 3 order—Broadway, Fifth avenue and the borough of the Bronx. The Bronx, once a scatter of bosks, now sports an expansive Champs Elysees known as the Grand Concourse.

Radio City blots out the old avenue skyline. Austere landmarks along the street — the Vanderbilt mansion, old Hotel Savoy and Delmonico's—are supplanted by spires as high as the sky and, at the moment, they are as empty as the horns of plenty. Millionaires' Row, north, now is deluxe apartments.

The only distinguishing marks of George M. Cohan's Broadway are his theater, the Criterion, Empire, Churchill's corner and the Hotel Astor. Broadway's present make-up is not the result of an orderly change, but represents down - right decadence, sloughing off into a rotting jumble of peep shows and penny-a-dance halls.

Prim rows of duplicate brownstones, running off either side of Broadway and Fifth avenue, are nearly obliterated. The few remaining are speakeasies or chopped up for recessed niches of trade and walkup flats. And you'd never believe that the once-beautiful W. 72d could become such a jade among streets.

After two experimental years of housekeeping, there comes one solid conviction: People generally like to dwell on inefficiencies of their servants. But become as angry as all get out when anyone else does.

I called on a gentleman who returned from the Orient swathed in cotton, a victim of poison ivy. Rickshaws are painted with an enduring stain from this growth, and he happened to engage a freshly-painted one.

Among afternoon saunterers is the French artist, Pierre Brissand. His invariable costume includes a black double-breasted coat with finely checked shepherd plaid trousers, touched off by a tie of no uncertain coloring. Among secret sorrows of both Arthur Samuels and myself is lack of unconscious bravery essential for the wearing of such a garb. But don't encourage us—especially Samuels. He already has flamed forth in a salmon-pink shirt with collar to match and a cravat of coral.

Since the passing of William Johnson, editor and novelist, I have known no smoker addicted to the rat-tailed stogie. The stogie, so far as New York is concerned, lost its pull. That is, until today, I saw a gentleman in a wide hat puffing one in the lobby of the Waldorf. My first jousts with nicotine was on the southernly end of a Wheeling stogie, an ebony black perfecto, with the kick of six mules. I exhaled three or four puffs in front of Tom Hill's barber shop one noon. My next remembering moment was of a faraway voice saying: "His lids fluttered. He's coming to!"

This same sultry summer, I became obsessed with a fixation for work, and those who can't stop laughing will kindly leave the auditorium. I decided, in lieu of no cash offers, to become indispensable to the J. M. Kerr Hardware Company. I went early on a Monday, lifted plow points, anvils, rolled kegs of nails, operated the pull-rope elevator and such until evening. This went on until Saturday, late, when I approached Mr. Kerr, out front wearing a silk hat, and, coughing apologetically, inquired if there was anything else I might do. He thought a minute and said: "Run up to the postoffice. When you come back help yourself to a big dipper of ice water. Cool off your interior." From that day to this I've been a work atheist. One of the no-gooders.

I notice Eddie Cantor swinging through Park avenue's jungle of life, daily, with his fugleman, Ben Holzman. He tells me he is quartered for the winter with his family at Delmonico's. There's an exhiliration in meeting up with Cantor. He has a contagious boyishness. Leaving him, I found myself skirting the curb to throw a leg over a fire plug in half leapfrog. And spent the rest of the block trying to straighten up.

From a current novel: "He loaned large sums to friends when there was a great need, his generosity knowing no limit. But now, when there was a definite demand for settlement, he found only recriminations. 'But that's America!' he said."
